capture_determination

With the wind blowing through his hair, '08's Matthew Villegas keeps a look of determination on his face with his eye on the end of the race, just like each Hornet student keeps their futures in mind as the years pass them by during high school.

capture_bodies in motion

While running Cross Country, Sophomore Garret Jay exemplifies the motion that AHS students are in, continuously moving them closer to greater and brighter futures.

capture_elation

The look of complete elation on Brittnie-Michelle Parkinson's face is the same look that every Senior has when they remember that 2006 is their year.

capture_composure

While watching and listening to the rest of the rowdy students at the homecoming assembly, Tamara Qirreh keeps her composure, making sure that '06 is seen for its pride and grace.

a: in joyous approval

Monica Chan and Becky Tu applaud the winners of the Senior Best results, which consisted of 24 categories and 48 Seniors, with a boy and girl for each category.

b: shoo shoo shakin'

Natalie Daubeneck, Nathalie Tan, Bich Vo, and Samantha Scheirer show everyone how it's done with class and glamour. Senior Banquet, although not a formal event, required relatively dressy attire.

c: a vision in black

Nicole Sanchez and Kelsey Small take a break from the dance floor in their stylish black dresses. The "dance floor" itself was the lower level of the boat transformed. Inside the room, it was hot and steamy, but those disinclined to dance (or those simply hot) could take a peek outside on the boat deck, and watch San Francisco float by.

e: reaching for the crown

Galen Wong, the winner of the "Most Random" category, reaches joyously for his crown amongst the mob of Seniors clamoring to hear the results. Because of the lack of room on the boat, people sat and stood on the floor during the results as well as the Senior Slideshow.

d: with camera & mike in hand

Holly Sibley juggles both her camera and her newly won crown for the person who "Makes You Laugh." Her male counterpart was Demetric Jones, who is captured next to her "emceeing" the embarkation of the boat.

a night to remember

Senior Banquet

The dining on the boat was interesting: salad, rolls, pasta and... tacos?

Chris Moon demonstrates his dainty culinary finesse with a napkin around his neck.

Three Musketeers: Devin Hobbs, Nidal Hassen, and Justin Chan.

After dancing, Kevin Lai, Jessica Vaughan, Taylor Holstlaw, Jessie C. Mason, and Arran Rogerson relax.

I ain't sayin' she's a golddigger: Stacey Fong, Nancy Liu, Susan Liu, and Delenie Wong are royal Senior Best beauties.

Jeff Raimondi, Neesha Parkih, and Taylor Jordan smile before a breathtaking landscape.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER.

in celebration of our last year of high school, we Seniors embark upon a journey through the mouth of the bay and, by the yellow lights of San Francisco. Capture, capture this moment, for it is all that we that have left.

capturing the life of a Senior

< Benchimius Senioritis: A so-called Bench of Seniors.

Many a Senior have reposed here with their friends during break or lunch.

> Stairs leading to and from our very own lockers.

To sit or walk upon these grounds is to tread Senior Territory!

^ The hallowed hallways that have been graced by our presence for four long years.

At first, our far-awar lockers filled us with dread, now they are a quiet, untrafficked place to get ready for classes.

...words & places that make us feel like home...

Arran Rogerson

"I'm going to run in college, then be the leader in a Japanese rock band. It's going to be called Rock&Key."

Michelle Aceves

"I'm going to FIDM, in LA, and i'm going to become big in fashion. When you see me at our AHS reunion, I'll be rich & famous!"

Andy Ahrens

"I'll go to college, get a job in Communications, start a family. And, I must climb Mount Everest."

Mrs. Chacon

"Read good books, laugh a lot, and don't think about the meaning of life too much."

Mr. Manno

"When you pick a job, pick something you want to do every day- something you love. Remember your family, remember your friends, and remember where you came from."

What is so special about being a SENIOR?

1) You're at the top of the school - been here 4 years.
2) You're the smartest, the prettiest (and/or) most handsome, the oldest, the most mature, the most admired people in the entire school. You set the example.
3) You're about to go to ¿COLLEGE?!.
4) You can still ask your parents for money.
5) You can do stupid things and... who cares!
6) Welcome to the next stage of your life.

Spirit And Halloween

"Enthusiasm reflects confidence, spreads good cheer, raises morale, inspires associates, arouses loyalty, and laughs at adversity . . . it is beyond price. "

- Allan Cox

SPIRIT. Whether participating in Food Fairs, going to the Homecoming game, or just being spirited Hornets, AHS students show their pride by wearing class or school colors or being a good student. To some, school is just an place for intellectual stimulation. To others, it is a place where people can come together and share their spirit. Whether or not you care to join the school activities, there is school spirit within everyone during our special spirit events.

Junior Max McNeil can really pass for a female as he flaunts his stylish Abercrombie & Fitch "fit." Our school-known spirit leaders and mascot, Junior Wendy Seng, shows off her masculine side on boy-girl switch day during our fall spirit week. Her "grillz" and "stunnaz" are the perfect representation for the theme of the day.

During our annual pep-rally, Junior Jeffrey Lee demonstrates his football skills with his very own novelty gold colored football. His genuine smile is a great example of the spirit of our great pep rallies that also include delicious food.

Senior Kim Baker

1. Senior Galen Wong is almost unrecognizable in his asian empress costume for the Food Fair. His hat is accessorized with a decorative mask, which gives his top hat an extra flair!

2. Juniors Mu-Ping Cheng and Nicole Louie represent the Junior class by displaying their matching leis during Spirit week, in which thousand island dressing was the Junior class' theme.

3. Juniors Gabriel Johnson and Louis Smith amaze the whole student body with their gravity defiying moves. They won the dance-off competition fair and square.

Junior Alex Perl

From cheerleaders and the mascot, to the Leadership class, to the average student, there are signs all over our school that the Hornets have a tremendous amount of pride!

Juniors Christina Hu and Jessica Jung attended the pep rally and are prepared to see the Encinal Jets crash and burn in the Encinal vs. Alameda game. Alameda High ended up winning with a score of 21 to 20.

The Seniors of '06 jeer at the other classes by dancing and hollering. They're excited to finish their high school career in only a matter of months.

Sophomores Lauren Freeman and Riley McLens energetically toss Rachel Cortes into the air in hopes of boosting the Sophomores' spirits during the Homecoming assembly.

Freshman Allison Quach serves a customer a quality cup of lemonade. She is demonstrating great leadership skills by helping to fundraise money for the Freshman class.

Fructuso Menchavez just may be the perfect example of a stereotypical AHS Freshman, but you cannot beat his Hornet spirt!

Juniors Gabrielle Dooha-Chambers and Sarah Oddie excitedly cheer on the dancers who represent the Junior class.

David Odza

Body art at its finest! Senior Sirena Cheung bears a cherry blossom tattoo on her right shoulder and two piercings on her tongue.

Words That Define Our World

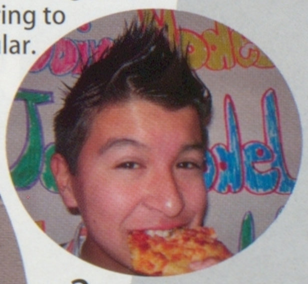
|---|---|
| Ala'murda | Alameda |
| Emo | Short term for emotional, in a musical sense |
| Gigs | A lot of dance moves |
| Slippin' | Not paying attention to your surroundings; off guard. |
| Grill | 1. One's personal buisness. 2. One's teeth or smile. |
| Hyphy | Getting out of hand, amusingly eccentric, high energy. |
| Lightwieght | So-so, kind of, a little bit |
| Mark | To kill someone, physically beating someone badly. |
| Ripper/Runner | A female who enjoys the company of many males. |
| Scraper | Any beat-up car you can put rims on, where the value of the accessories are more than the vehicle itself. |
| Stack | A lot money |
| Shaump | Another way of saying "That sucks." |
| Trackstar | A drug dealer who makes a lot of money. |
| Whip | A nice, expensive car. |
| Yadadamean | Short for "You know what I mean?" |

1. Senior Ashley Johnson layers her pink tank top over her lacy cami along with her Abercrombie Anna fur hoodie, while senior Taiba Walizada stays fashionable with her brown woven belt, frayed mini skirt and black leggings.

3. Did you know button pins first came out in the 1870's? They're still popular today! You can make any backpack change from boring to spectacular.



2. Mohawks aren't as hair-raising as they used to be. Unlike the radical punk rock days, the modern faux hawk is much more tame. Sophomore Westyn Scott knows what's up.

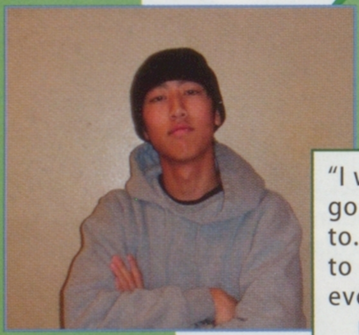
"The path we have chosen for the present is full of hazards, as all paths are." ~John F. Kennedy

Daniel Lin, Junior, drives a stick shift 1999 Mazda Miata everyday to school.

What do you look forward to most when you get your license?



"I want to be able to go wherever I want to. I wouldn't have to walk to school every morning and risk being late."

-Jae Chung '07

"I'm going to race my friends and drive around to other places for lunch. I can't wait until I can drive.

-Brendan Jiu '08

Sophomore Ehren Serrano enjoys the morning stroll to school. Although he enjoys walking, he wouldn't mind getting a ride!

Post-grads Siobhan Morell and friends are among the many students who take the bus home.

"Always High Standards" is Alameda High School's motto. As these proud Hornets strut their stuff outside of school hours, they either work for pay or for community service hours. These students' jobs range from working at sports clubs to working with exotic aquatic animals. Even though these jobs may not be what they want to do for a living, they are gaining valuable experience in the working world. For now, their main job is school, where they must maintain at least a 2.0 GPA to keep their work permits. Jobs without pay are some of these Hornets' specialties where they value the lessons learned from community service. There is no job that is too big or small that these Hornets won't take on.

Sophomore Melissa Lim and her father, Glenn Lim, Class of '77, often tell each other about their experiences at Alameda High. Mr. Lim remembers having some of the same teachers as his daughter such as Mr. Cooper and Mrs. Roemer.

Past Meets Present

Many of the students attending Alameda High have teachers who have also taught their very own parents.

Mr. Boomer taught at AHS for 39 years.

Joey Ogden, Senior

Janelle Ogden, Class of '89

Vincent Ogden, Freshman

1] When asked how it felt to have taught a parent then their child, Mr. Janvier said, "It's great, it's interesting, and rewarding. I had students that I've taught and then they grow up, have children, and make lives of their own. It's amazing to see them grow up."

2] Mr. Chacon recognizes many of his past student's children. He says that, "Kids were a lot different. They took their work more seriously back then."

3] Mr. Cooper, who has been teaching for 38 years has had many students pass through him. He says that having taught so many students makes him feel old.

4] Our very own art teacher, Mrs. Mcallister states that having two generations pass through her is a very interesting experience. One of her former students now owns her very own restaurant.

"The school seems to be more diverseful, ethnicity wise."
-Gina Abude, Class of '78

Are there any differences between the time you attended AHS and now?

"The difference between the time when I attended Alameda High and now is the different attitude towards work ethics."

-Alice Wlazlo, Class of '84

Is there any pressure having a parent who attended AHS?

"There's some stress because my mom had Mr. Janvier as a teacher and she wants me to do well in the same environment she had to go through."

-Pat Byrne, Freshman

Stephanie Sorenson, Freshman

Do you think that there are more benefits now than there were back then?

"Yes, there's more equality for sports for both male and female teams. It used to be old fashioned so that more men could play and they would exclude the woman."

Ronda Goodman, Class of '79

If you had a choice, would you prefer attending AHS now or when you attended?

"I would rather attend AHS back when I went because there wasn't as much pressure, things were slower and there was more respect for adults."

Erin Sorenson, Junior

GRAMMAR

Polonius: What do you read my lord?
Hamlet: Words, words, words.
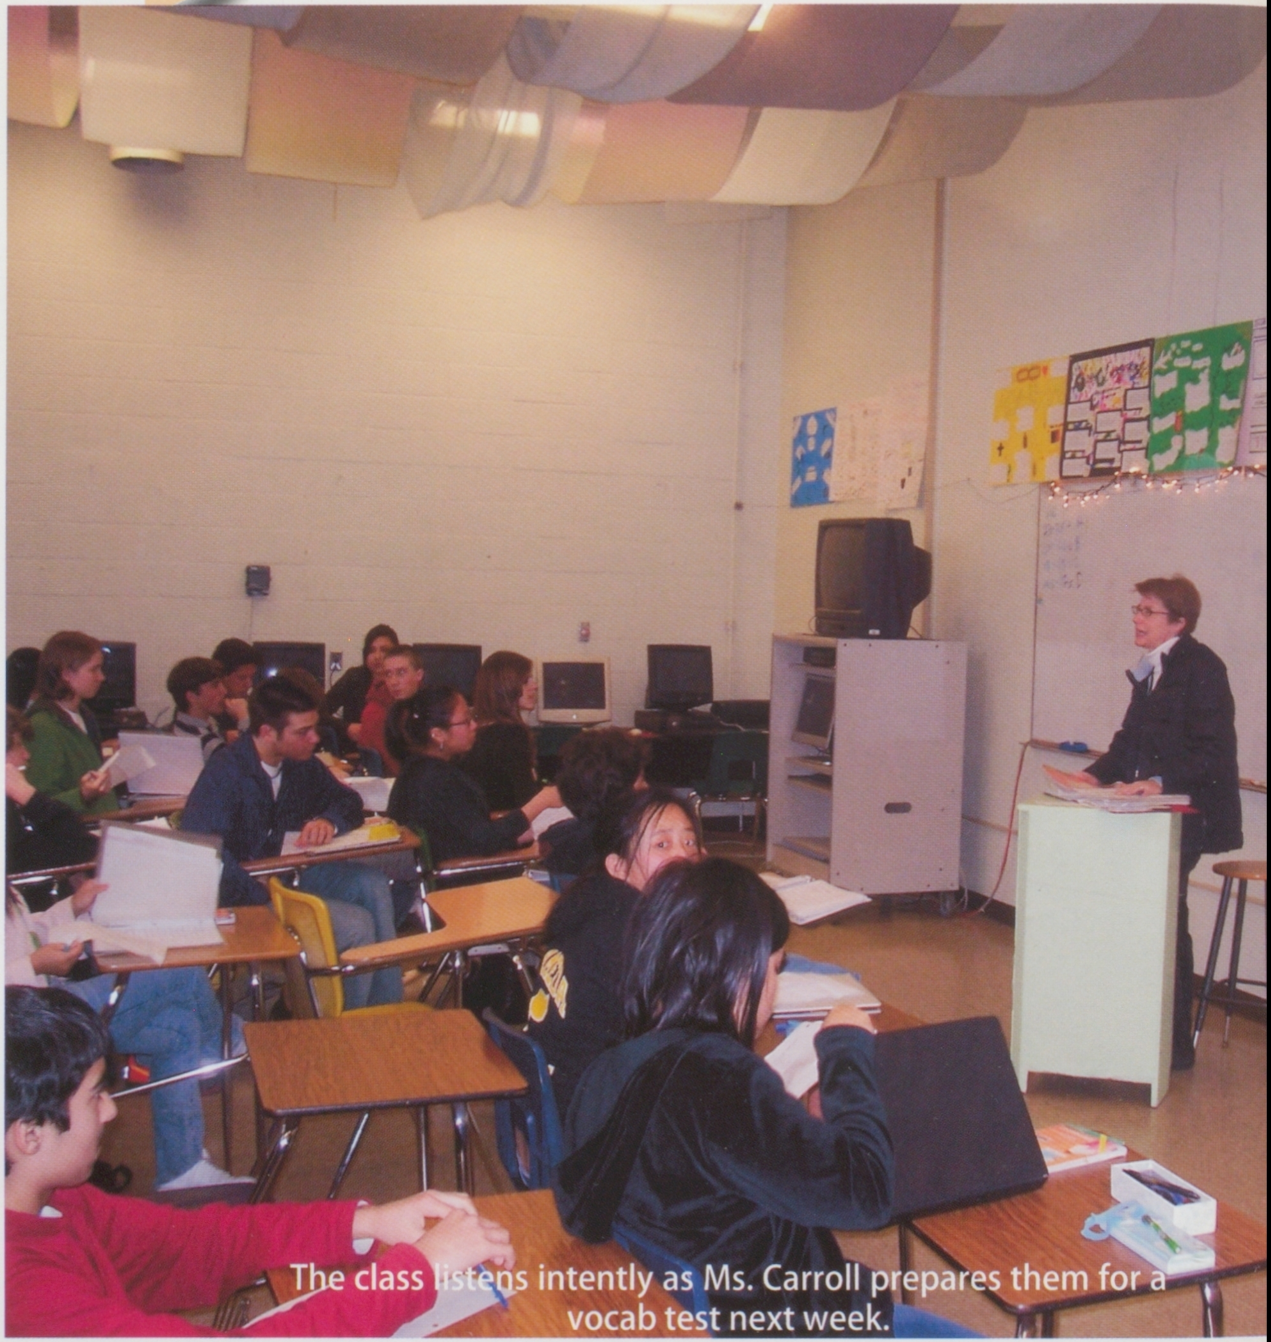
Act II. Sc. 2 line 208 - 210

English isn't really all about "words, words, words." In our English classes, we study more than just vocabulary. Every day in these classrooms, teachers open students' minds to think outside the box by analyzing the lines of books like Of Mice and Men, Macbeth, The Great Gatsby, and Lord of the Flies. To further their understanding in literature, they participate in fun, enriching activities like doing skits, making posters, and watching educational videos. Our English department take pride in its work and influences their students for the better each day.



The class listens intently as Ms. Carroll prepares them for a vocab test next week.

1. Senior Demetric Jones demonstrates the opening scene of Hamlet. He is the ghost in the beginning of the play. 2. Freshmen Shemariah Rodrigues and Taylor Vondrasek act out a scene from House On Mango Street. 3. Mrs. Chacon's first period class reads quietly before doing some intense analysis of Hamlet.

Senior Jay Bhatnagar concentrates on his work without interruption.

Sophomores Nina Dumas and Laurel Johneseu are ecstatic about presenting their poster in front of the class! Like, OMG!

It doesn't matter which way you duck, Dominique Bobineaux, you can't hide from the camera! Seniors Erin Bisett, Tristen Jazmin, Gina Wong, Peter Phung, Jeff Raimondi and Gweneth Rice are absolutely delirious about English! The expression on Jeff's face says it all.

Mrs. Ziemer's class sinks into the text before doing a fun class assignment.

IS THAT YOUR FINAL ANSWER?? Sophomore Will Irons raises his hand to answer the million dollar question.

Holly Armijo, 12th

Sarah Vitucci,
Junior

Sarah Vitucci quietly works on the statistics quiz given out about standard deviation.

Taryn Yee,
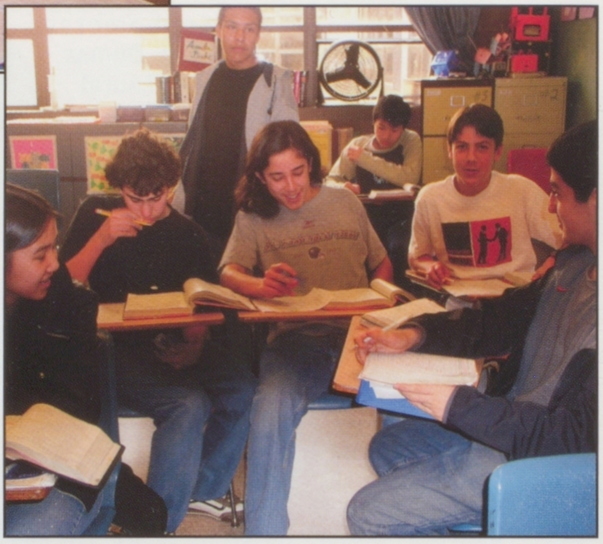
Freshman

Taryn Yee works on her quiz and examines her work in Mr. Cooper's geometry class.

Junior Tanya Ochoa works on the newspaper project which ties into the current lesson in her Algebra II class. Senior Erin Boyle takes a break from her hard work while Junior Michaela Jung works on the math assignment Mrs. Macy taught to quickly apply the concept.

Freshmen Yen Chi Ha, Tyler Sanderson, Daniel Higuchi, Alex Colvin, and Maseh Osman conjoin as a group so that they can make the math exercises easier. This particular group of students are already ahead of the class due to their quick working pace.



While working in Mrs. Sarvey's class, Sophomore Claytin Bennett focuses his energy, quickly applying the material taught earlier in the day while surrounded by his peers.

Freshman Trung Nguyen concentrates on the geometric figures to help understand the equation.

Senior Fatuma Kitenge studies her notes so that she can be prepared for the next test in her statistics class.

math aNALYSIS

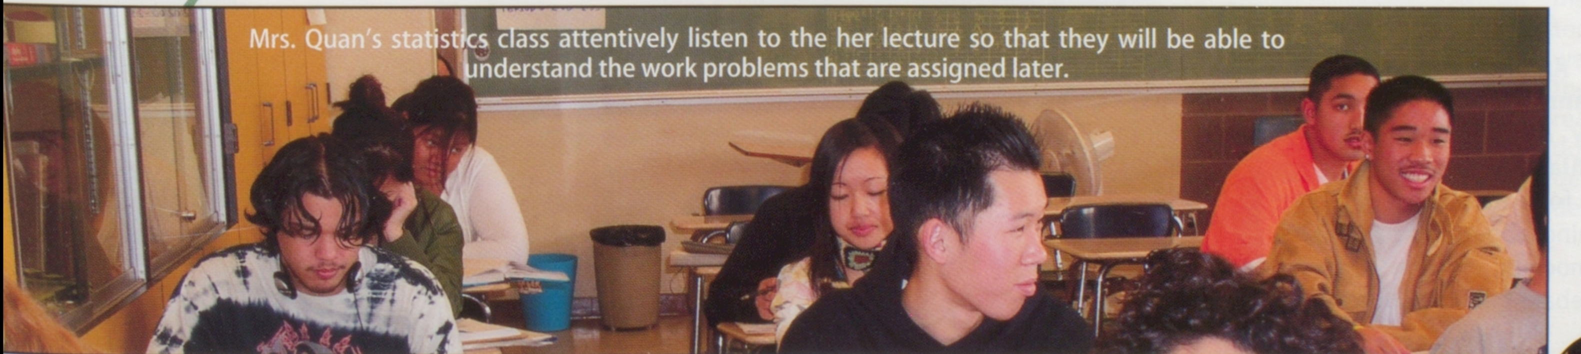
Math comes in many different forms, whether it be calculus, geometry, or even statistics. At Alameda High School, math is one of the most important subjects taught to the students. Math is something everyone will apply everyday of their lives. Math is a linking subject used throughout the world, because numerals are universal symbols, allowing us to deal with money and measurements across borders. Without the concepts of math, many things would still be a mystery. The properties of geometry help explain things, while the equations of algebra, calculus and statistics give the formula to solve equations. The question is now asked: how can you apply math to your everyday situations?

Juniors Maureen Mitchell and Blake Reno-Bautista and Sophomore Sarah Landkron help each other on their problems so that they can ace the class.



Mrs. Quan's statistics class attentively listen to the her lecture so that they will be able to understand the work problems that are assigned later.

history
iNDEPENDENCE

History at Alameda High is not your typical, boring class full of facts and dates. At AHS, our dedicated teachers work hard to provide an inspiring and interesting learning environment. Our classes like AP Euro, APUSH, and government do projects like mimicking life in the past, participateing in debates, and creating a Mock Congress. These are just a few of the added bonuses in the social studies classes. Independence, civil rights, peace and truth encompass the curriculum in our day. Today, AHS students are making history at school, in the community, and in the world. AHS students are deeply affected by history and it affects our lives and promotes change and inspiration.

science EXPERIMENTS

Junior Ashley Mann and Sophomore Matthew Elefant

At Alameda High School, our science classes are comprised of exciting curriculum. The sciences give one a chance to explore the world and how it works! Through labs and intense experiments, students at AHS make earth shattering discoveries everyday. Biology, chemistry, physics, and environmental science are some of our favorite classes. In physics and chemistry, students make daily discoveries about how the world and universe operate. Students begin to see everyday occurrences as chemistry and physics instead of things we take for granted. Environmental sciences takes action in our school and community by organizing classroom recycling and, this year, a new battery-recycling program! At AHS, students look forward to making discoveries daily as young scientists, promoting change and capturing the workings of our lives.

Freshman Michael Sugitani studies possible genetic outcomes of a child

p.e. & jujitsu ## ENERGY

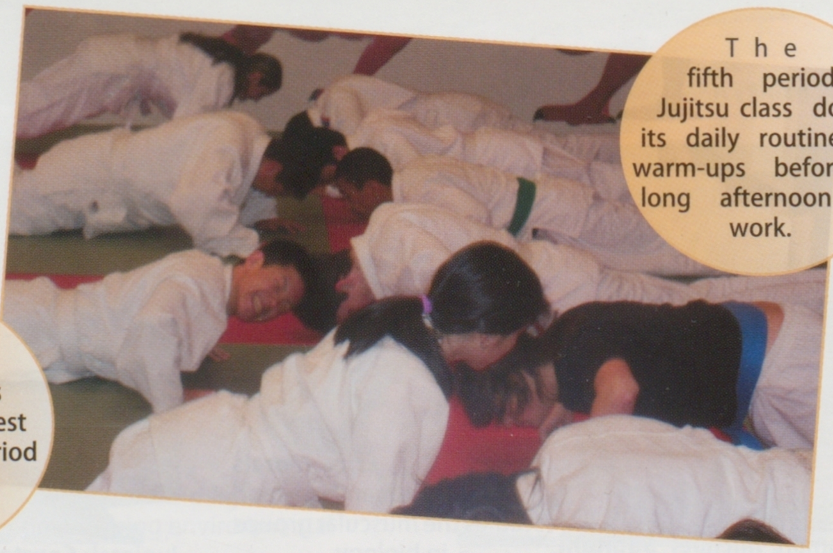
Jujitsu originates from pre-12th century Japan. Jujitsu is a technique that is hard to master. It is the way of the Samurai and is famous for its throwing techniques. Originally it was designed for warfare, but after centuries of refinement, we have today's art. Jujitsu is different than what people might think, "because in movies, people only see martial arts as punching and kicking but it is more than that. You have to regulate strength and destruction while disabling your opponent," says Mr. Quinonez.

Physical Education is meant to help kids and young adults stay and remain in shape. It helps them learn how to keep themselves healthy and to eat the right foods. It also helps them to discover new athletic skills that they probably never knew they had. In the classes today we learn how to exercise the different parts in our body correctly. Thanks to the awesome teachers at Alameda High, we are now capable of maintaining a better and happier life. "An environment where kids can exercise is our type of living," say Coaches Pearse and Hennessee.

Mr. Quinonez teaches Senior Sarah Johnson and Junior Arianne Carreon where a person's pressure points are. By doing this Sarah and Arianne learn how they can cause someone severe pain.

Coach Hennessee explains an upcoming test to his fourth period Freshman class.



The fifth period Jujitsu class does its daily routine of warm-ups before a long afternoon of work.

Kimmy Ramsey and Kayla Missaggia

Sophomore Hilary Ledoan does her daily exercises before she goes and practices self defense.

Sophomore Donna Tran learns how to get up quickly when being attacked by an enemy. Wow that looks really hard.

Sophomore Justin Mora has fun while defending himself from a fellow classmate. By doing this he can work on his defense techniques to get a better grade.

1. Sophomores Jesse Bowen and Jay Treat practice different ways of self defense on each other.

2. Sophomore Thien An Nguyen does amazing pushups to build up his arm muscles. When he gets those big muscles he will definitely be able to defend himself.

3. Junior Steven Gleason and Sophomore Joseph Na do windmills to stretch their upper backs to prepare for hard falls.

4. Sophomores Frank Polizzi and Mark Adlawan stand in line very patiently until it is their turn to demonstrate their wonderful jujitsu skills.

LINGUISTICS

Given the privilege to learn another culture, Alameda High students have the opportunity to take either a French or Spanish class. Because each student is required to have a minimum of two years of foreign language, the pupils prepare themselves for the future. If they decide to pursue their interest in linguistics, the students may fill a cultural void in the world as they use their gifts and talents in their preferred language.

COMPOSING

A Danish storyteller, Hans Christian Andersen, once said, "Where words fail, music speaks." Some say that music is the essence of life, and others say it is a necessity. Music is an outlet for the passion emitted from Alameda High School students. Having the opportunity to take Symphonic, Concert, and Jazz Band classes allows for students to reach the potential that they aspire to. In addition, Alameda High provides Women's Choir, and Musical Theater, where students may escape from the reality of their daily lives and embrace the arts and hobbies that they love. Music is not just a class at Alameda High; it is a way of life, and a way to escape from the stress and drama of high school.

Senior Pablo Vadillo, Sophomore Joshua Ramos, Junior Preetham Soloman, and Sophomore Momoko Ishiguro spend hours everyday in dedication to their music. Their love and passion for Jazz Band shows greatly in their breathtaking performances and rehearsals.

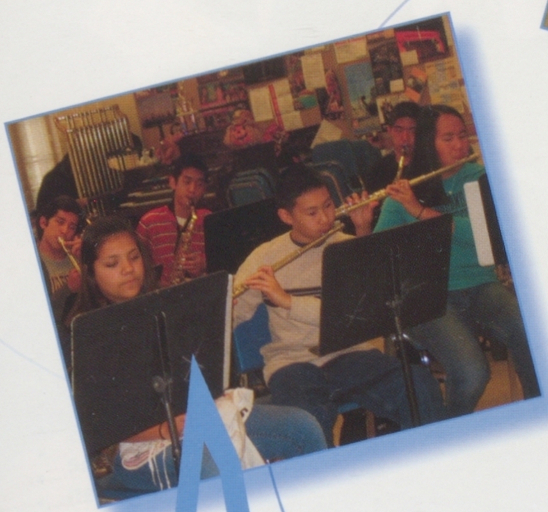
Seniors Joseph Tran and Phebe Yip play the bass clarinet and the bassoon together, creating harmonious music from these rare instruments.

Not only is Junior Caitlin Preminger the only female saxophone player, she is also one of the most talented musicians of Alameda High.

Frank Lee

The trumpet players of the Symphonic Band practice in unison. Junior Samuel Ng says, "Sometimes I go after school to get some extra practice for an upcoming event."

The second period musicians practice their class favorite jazz song "Nunca Pierdas Tu Cabeza Por Un Pedazo De Cuzco," composed by Jon Palacio Jr.



The symphonic band plays a synchronized piece, preparing to play their best songs for the upcoming Spring Concert.

The Women's Choir gathers around to sing a warm-up song before they are ready to sing accapella. Freshman Brittney Lew says, "I love Women's Choir because it lets me express myself positively."

Rebekah Park, Senior
Kim Baker, Senior

"Honestly, rather then calling myself the first chair [for flute] I would prefer that Kim and I both be recognized as first chair. We've been in band for 4 years together and without her, I wouldn't have been where I am today and nor would she. We're practically band sisters!"

Zachary Wong, Junior
Theresa Quach, Junior

First year concert master, Zach Wong, says he has "a lot more responsibilities like tuning the Concert Band before practices and performances." After being promoted, Zach states that "It is a privilege to be first chair."

Lauren Tung, Senior
Emily Wong, Junior

Senior Lauren Tung and Junior Emily Wong enjoy having productive Band Classes. They say, "We've been in Band for all of our high school careers. Its one of our favorite classes!"

Emily Manson, Sophomore

Having a strong voice, Emily auditioned to sing a solo during this year's Winter Concert. She stated that her experience was "thrilling," but at the same time she had "stage fright, but would do it again."

Katie Lindstedt, 11th

"I feel drama is important, because it allows me to express myself in different ways by acting out human emotions using body language instead of words."

Iris Barbey, 10th

"Acting is very enjoyable, it gives me the chance to pretend to be whoever I want."

Lex Meek, 9th

"I like acting because there's a lot of freedom in this class. The best thing about it is that I get to practice saying really big words."

Senior Taryn Aguiar protrays Abigail Williams exceptionally well through her talent.

Seniors Gabriel Andrade and Nicole Greenspan dip gracefully while rehearsing their dance number together.

Theater has been around for thousands of years and is still very popular today. Though many types of drama exist, perhaps the one we are most familiar with is Greek drama. Famous playwrights like Sophocles and Euripides wrote plays that dealt with human emotions. As great as they were, today, the Alameda High School Drama Department embraces the same idea by performing various plays throughout the school year. They performed plays this year like Arthur Miller's The Crucible and William Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, both of which were huge successes. Their talent and love for these plays shine through productions, leaving audiences fulfilled and satisfied in the end.

art & dance TALENT

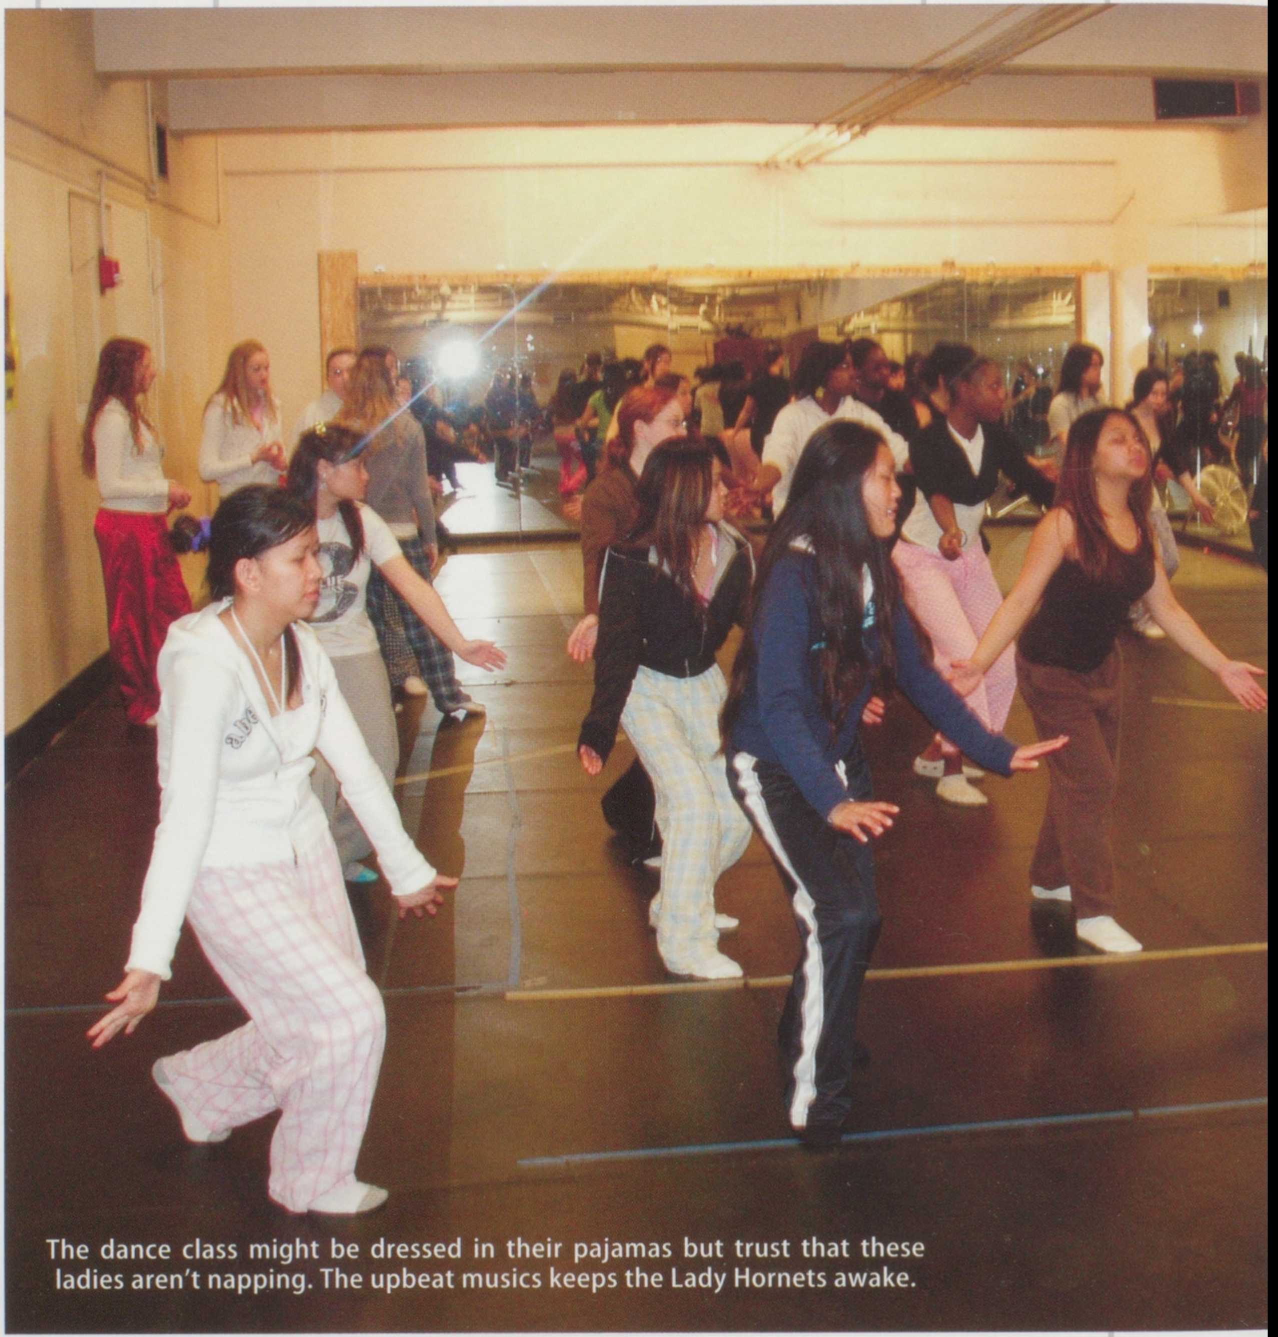
We are proud of our art and dance program here at good old Alameda High School. The dance class here consists of many different types of dance, such as African, Hip-Hop, Contemporary, and many other modern and ancient dance styles. Art is a huge part of Alameda High's culture. The hallways and courtyards are covered with the art work of our students. The talented work on the walls are an eye pleaser compared to the rust-orange and murky-blue tiles that stain our halls. Talent comes and goes around here but the memories of it will be preserved on the walls as well as our hearts.



The dance class might be dressed in their pajamas but trust that these ladies aren't napping. The upbeat musics keeps the Lady Hornets awake.

1. Senior Anthony Goodeill and Sophomore Janel Johnson work hard on sketches for Mrs. McAllister's art class. 2. Throughout the years, Alameda High's art students work hard on peace murals all over the school. 3. Junior Ella VandeKamp draws a portrait of "The New Yorker."

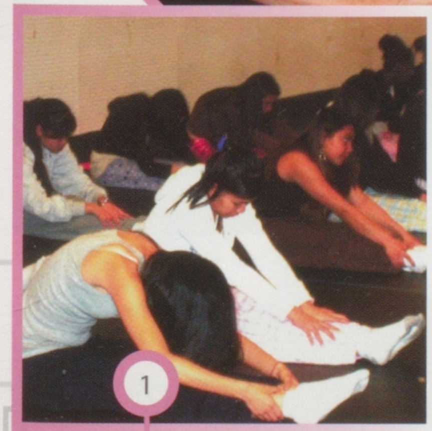
1. Freshmen Summera and Wasifyar Farooq practice their still life in art I. Corn seems to be the focus of the days work. 2. Freshman Ellen Dietrich shows off her water coloring skills. 3. Freshman, Iko Bayarsaikhan is motivated to paint while listening to her favorite song.



1. The dancers prepare by stretching out their limbs. Warming up is one of the most important steps before dancing. 2. Ms. Gill and Junior Ashley Everett lead the class in a tribal African dance. 3. Sophomore Danielle Li helps lead the class in a dance routine that everyone seems interested in.

Chanel Li, 12th

"Dance is fun and it wakes you up in the morning. It's also good excersise- and I like to dance."

Song Wang, 11th

"I like art because I get to talk to my friends and I like coloring things."

Ben Engle, 10th

"I love drawing vegetables. My carrot is the best carrot in the world."

Monica Lee, 9th

"Dance is a fun class and I don't have to learn, I can just have fun. It's something different.

What do you like the most about the Media Academy?

John Woodliff, '09

"I enjoy being in Media Academy because I get to work with computers on creative writing projects."

Karen Lujan, '08

"I like how both my English class and history class are at the same place, so we read All Quiet on the Western Front while studying World War 1.

Sarah Vitucci, '07

"I like that in Media Academy you are with the same people for all four years, and the breakfast isn't bad either."

Katie Marzolf & Alex Sifert, '06

"We like the Media Academy because the whole class is connected like a family."

INTELLIGENCE

Juniors Lukas Mott and Katie Pham work on a Power Point project after class to make sure that it is done on time.

"The best part about teaching in the Media Academy is that the students really feel a sense of belonging to something; they feel like they are connected to other students and to teachers like a family."
-Mr. Manno, Director of the Media Academy

Media Academy is a four-year program in which the students obtain special privileges, such as extra use of the school's computer labs and entrance to any media program in the school. Most students enter the Media Academy as Freshman and stay in the program all four years of high school. The Media Academy is for students who like to get a lot of their work done by themselves while still having a structured environment.

ele tives

CAREERS

Some take electives just to fullfill the schools requirments, others take electives because they are already pursuing what they want to major in in college. Alameda High School offers a wide variety of electives ranging from something as fun as dance to as serious as medical occupations. Though most electives are lighthearted, they are at the same time as serious as any other class, because most of the time the lessons learned in the elective classroom can be immediately applied to everyday life.

Right: Seniors Jenny Quan, Bich Vo, and Junior Katherine Coreno take a break from high school studies to play with the careers with children toddlers in the sandbox.

1. THE FIRST STEP IS:
Students in the class research, congregate and brainstorm about current hot topics, from global problems, to school opinions, to pop culture issues.

2. SECOND OF ALL:
After pages are assigned to people, for three weeks they interview, research, and write at least three drafts before finalizing their articles for the paper.

3. THE FINAL PRODUCT:
When articles are all turned in, the editors of the paper focus furiously on "paste-up," the process of organizing the layout of the page and products.

leadership
dETERMINATION

Imagine school without spirit days where students don't get to gather together as a team. Imagine school without dances, events look forward to to spend with a special someone or group of friends. Imagine a school without candy grams, little gifts we can send to the people we care about. Now imagine our school without food fairs, assemblies, all the many things that remind us that school can, indeed, be fun. School doesn't seem as fun anymore does it?

Well, we owe all those activities to our leadership class. Leadership students dedicate tremendous time and effort to school events. ASB organizes all the activities. President Senior Emily Fertig and Vice President Senior Justin Chan divide the class into groups who not only monitor their event or activity carefully, but plan and brainstorm more ideas. Without these organized groups, we would just be going to class everyday with the same old routines. Not only does the class show us a different side of school, its students show us inspiration and dedication.

Seniors Alexa Darracq and Erin Lebe set up candy gram sales together.

Juniors Anna Carlson, Ally Hurst and Monica Wong get the class's attention behind the podium in order to start up the topics of the day.

Junior Chelsey Trueman and Seniors Stacey Wong, and Tina Mai smile generously while helping out at the entrance to the winter blood drive.

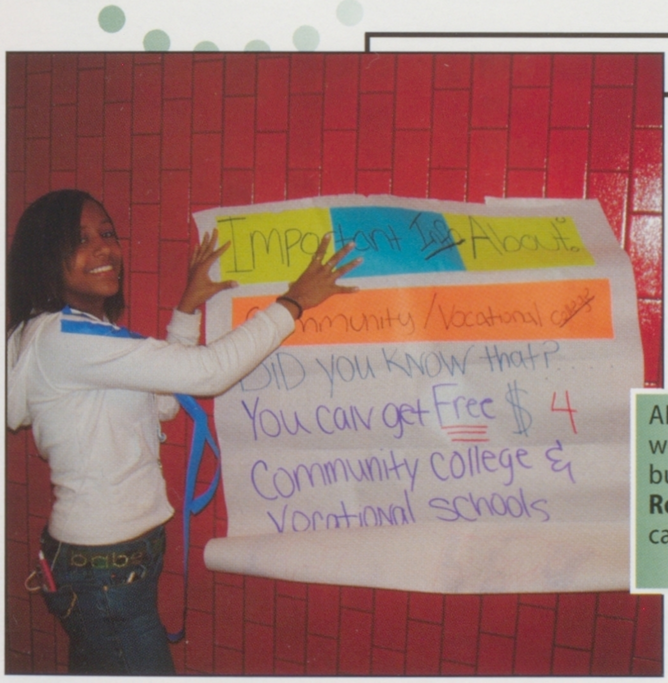
LEFT: Mr. Nakamura smiles proudly behind the podium. "Teaching leadership allows me to know students off campus better since things are more laid back then."

RIGHT: Freshman Gabby Loparo concentrates hard to brainstorm her thoughts for our school activities. No wonder we have such fun events!



ABOVE: Leadership Freshmen do the dirty work by throwing away a 3-year old tub of butter. Yuck! LEFT: Freshman Shemariah Rodrigues uses excellent technique to carry tape when she posts up posters for the school.

Emily Fertig, Senior

"I like how leadership brings together a diversity of people who are involved in changing the school, no matter how big or small of a difference it makes."

Sarah Frankel, Junior

"As the assembly coordinator, I love being able to authorize the things that go on. It's hard work having to remind students what to do and organize everything that goes on."

Ben Ulrey, Sophomore

"I like helping to run school activities for Alameda High in leadership. Not only do I get to help out, leadership looks good on my records and will help me in the future for politics."

Jenny Chung, Freshman

"This was my first year doing leadership. I love how I can get involved with helping the school and at the same time I'm getting to know more people since I'm new to Alameda. "

Administration Counseling

When asked either what has captured their attention or what goal would they like to capture throughout this year, The Counselors replied saying...

"The College and Carreer Center captured my attention, since it has more energy and creativity this year. My goal is to have the Seniors be prepared and graduate

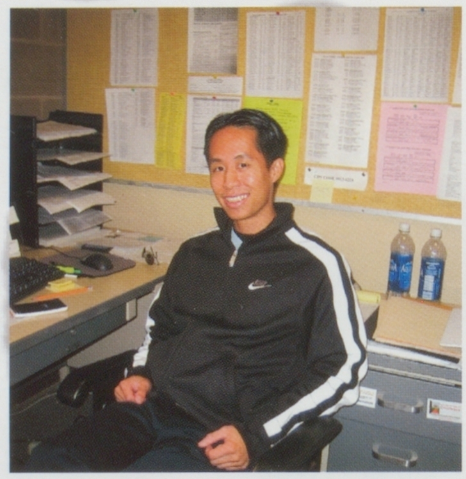
-Ms. Porter

Ms. Hoffmeister was unable to be captured for a comment.

-Ms. Hoffmeister

"The size [of the school] captured my attention, because it seems too over crowded, there is too much stress, and it is very diverse."

-Ms. Loy



"How many bright and good students there are" captured his attention, while his goal is for "all [the] seniors to have a plan for next year."

-Mr. Wong

As it is Mr. Maiers' job to ensure all of the students to do well in school, his goal is " for all of the seniors to graduate" and see to it that all of the students here at AHS, do all they can to have a bright future.

-Mr. Maiers

Capture Their Thoughts

-Mr. Janvier

Our school principal, Mr. Janvier, would like to capture this year is for "every student to complete the year and accomplish as much as possible academically and socially, to complete high school, and to reach more goals." He believes that every student has the "potential to be great," and captured the "commitment of the staff, students, parents, and the community to make AHS better each and every year."

"My goal I would like to capture this year is to push the California State Test performance higher, and to be a world class school academically. I believe that we are in the doorway of the world class school. The remarkable students and staff work as a team, and what impresses me, is the academic level of the students.

-Ms. Wiggins

-Mr. Rawlins

My captured goal I want to accomplish this year is to have all of the Seniors graduate, and to have the students come to school on time. Every year, what definitely captures my attention is how many students are enrolled in each class.

The Teachers...

Teachers are those whose occupation is to instruct. They are the ones who are faithfully in their classrooms before, during, and after school, 182 days of the year. Despite the 10920 (or more) hours they spend instructing and putting up with us for seven hours a day, they additionally put in extra hours to prepare, grade, tutor, and counsel. These individuals introduce the perspectives we do not see and have the answers to the unknown. Taking time out of their busy scheduals to meet our educational needs, they go out of their way to ensure we meet the necessary standards. Teachers have the passion to reach out and touch our hearts with their wisdom. The legacy they pass on to the next generation is taught in small time segments, hoping that there will be a change in society, and an impact on the world. Without the dedication of the Alameda High School staff and faculty, AHS would not be as great as it is now.

Juniors! '07! Finally you have reached the lair of the upperclassmen. You have shown amazing determination, spirit, and dedication. It was tough, SAT's, AP's, and Varsity sports. Congratulations Juniors. Only one more year to go!

How do you like being a Junior?

"I love it! It is one of my best years ever. My classes are great, I'm not looking forward to SAT's but I know I can tackle them."

-T.C. Adams

"It's not too hard, yet. I love being an upperclassman."

- Bruce Dunn

"It's ok, I'm not looking foward to SAT's but I'm excited to be an upperclassman!"

cross country

Ready, set, GO!! Freshmen Jessica Hong, Tatiana Burenin and Junior Christina Huang take off quickly as the sound of the gun goes off. Coming in first is not all that matters, Tatiana Burenin says, " It doesn't matter who makes what place, as long as you have fun."

As a competitive sport, cross country running originated in England in the 19th century from the game called "hare and hounds" or "paper chase," where a group of runners set out on a random course by laying pieces of papers on the ground. A second set of runners would then go out in pursuit of the paper trail. As of today, runners no longer run after paper but run through open country on trails. This year's team competed in places such as Crab Cove, Farmer Invitational, and the Garin Park Scrimmage after hours of dedication to practice.

What can you tell us about cross country?

"I think cross country is the ultimate form of atheletisism. You have to push as hard as you can because if you stop, you lose."

- Arran Rogerson, 12th

"It takes a lot of discipline and dedication. You have to keep in good shape because if you fail to keep up, your form will change."

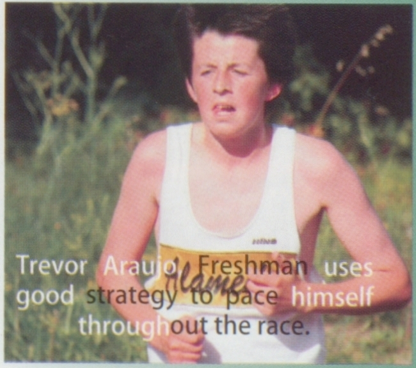
Jimmy Quang, Junior, uses up every bit of strength he has to make it through the run. Good work!

Sophomore Jain Thapa stops at nothing that comes his way. He is truly unstoppable!



Trevor Araujo, Freshman uses good strategy to pace himself throughout the race.

"Run Forrest, Run!"

Our JV and Varsity girls ran through the regular season undefeated while the Varsity boys finished the season with a 2 & 5 record. All teams did their best and gave their all in getting to this point during the season. Their hard work comes from enthusiasm and determination.

football

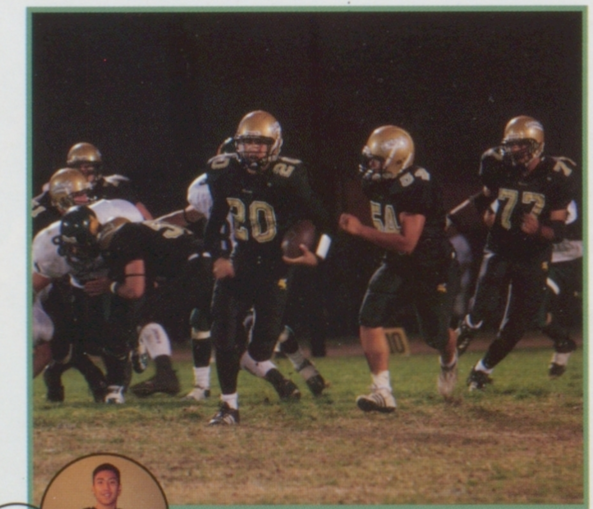
Football is the most popular sport among our nation's high schools. Many students join the team each year, interested in its vastness and diversity. They form strong bonds and through their team effort and hard work, they gain a new sense of camaraderie, admiration and respect for one another. They work together through the impossible, and work as a team to achieve their common goal of victory. Students are brought together through a common interest and meet people they never would have known existed before. Football not only brings its players together to become an extended family, but it reaches their hearts so the players capture and internalize the intensity of the game.

Senior, Jonathan Ve'e runs one of his seventeen attempts against the Pinole Valley Spartans, butchering their defense and running 75 yards for a touchdown. He reached his all-time high with an accomplished 414 yards in one game, making his record the highest average yardage per attempt in Hornet history.

Doug Yee, Varsity Senior, punts the ball 48 yards to give the Hornets a larger defensive zone.



During the Varsity Livermore preseason game, Blake Reno, 07', shows his versatility as quarterback by not only completing four passes, but also running 50 yards for a first down, with the help of his linemen, Justin Marceline ,06' , Jeff Ma, 06', and Tameem Nabiyar, 07'.

Preston Ramsey, Freshman running back, furiously side steps around a Livermore Cowboy defender, unafraid of being tackled.

Kenese Pedro, Junior, JV, evades a Livermore defender to gain a first down. He remembers thinking, "We needed that first down to keep the drive alive."

Brent Kawaguchi

The Varsity Hornets play an excellent game against the Bishop O'Dowd Dragons, carefully utilizing their defensive team to perform a four-four cover three (a formation equally useful for defending against offensive running and passing), resulting in a win for the Hornets with a score of 14-13.

Right: Varsity Senior, Derrick Chiu nullifies a booming Pinole Valley kick off with a 25 yard return.

Bottom: Sophomore Alex Herrera, JV, lunges into the air in an attempt to catch a block punt directed towards the Hornet's end zone.

Right: Tyler Nash, Freshman, utilizes his speed and skill to run the ball for a first down.

Marcelo Medina, Senior Varsity, straight arms a De Anza Dons defender to reach a first down for the Hornets.

How has football affected your life?

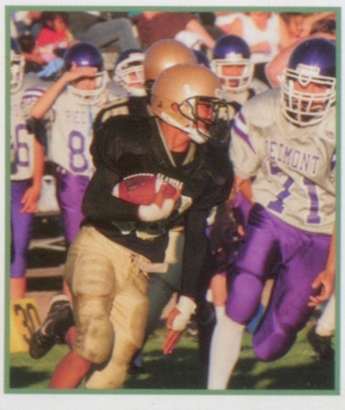
"I've met people through football who I would not have considered friends, nonetheless come close to them and become family."

-Jason Tubbs #50 '06

"It has changed my work ethic for school, sports, and in life. Also I have become friends with many people who I probably wouldn't even talk to."

-Weston Moyer #2 '08

Bottom: Romel Obcena, Freshman, runs the ball 42 yards against Piedmont High, reaching a first down and bringing the Hornets one step closer to victory.



One of his four passes achieving a cumulative yardage of 119 yards, Sam Mora, JV Sophomore, throws two completing touchdowns for a final score of 54-0 against the De Anza Dons.

women's tennis

Tennis started to form into a significant sport in the 11th century. It began as hand ball, played by monks around the cloisters of monasteries in Italy and France. The game moved from the cloisters to the castles and became a game of nobility. Alameda's Women Tennis team can definitely be considered nobility; these Lady Hornets have soared with a record of 18-4, becoming the top dogs in the ACCAL league. Varsity Seniors Mangala Gopal and Vikki Fermin-Weinrab won the ACCAL doubles crown, and Varsity Junior Jennifer Lau sweeps the singles ACCAL as the league's top player!

Varsity Senior Mangala Gopal ACCAL doubles champ, is extremely happy with that hit. This Senior has won the doubles title in the ACCAL with her partner, Senior Vikki Fermin-WeinReb, for the past two years. Who knows what this happy Senior will do with her talent?

Freshman Shirley Tang is the only ninth grader on the women's Varsity team this year. She concentrates as the ball comes towards her and hits it over the net!

Varsity Senior, Erika Fong shows off her excellent technique, moving her up to the number three singles player on the team.

Varsity Senior Tammy Wong doubles player, gets ready to deliver another mighty serve in Alameda High's ninth win in a row.

Varsity Sophomore, Lauren Yeung demonstrates a low forehand stroke against Pinole, winning a 6-1 game. She might be small but watch out, this girl can play a pretty mean game.

Who inspired you to play tennis?

"It was my dad's favorite sport in high school, he introduced a lot of sports to me and I liked tennis the most!"
-Lauren Yeung, Varsity, Sophomore

"My whole family plays tennis, also I wanted to participate in a school sport so tennis was my first pick and I LOVE it!"
-Cherilyn Mark, Varsity, Junior

Varsity Seniors, Mangala Gopal and Vikki Fermin-WeinReb are ACCAL doubles champs for the second year in a row; they are ready for another showdown on the tennis court.

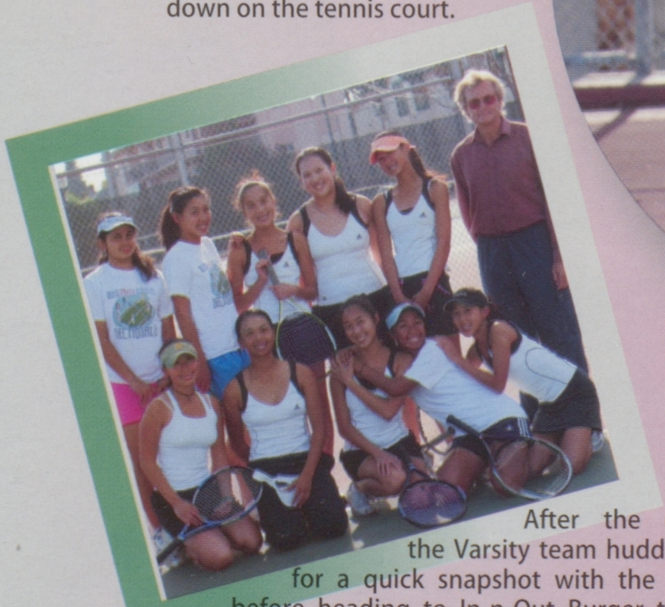
Bottom: Varsity Junior and ACCAL Champion Jennifer Lau gets ready to swing herself into another victory!



After the game, the Varsity team huddles up for a quick snapshot with the coach before heading to In-n-Out Burger to eat, which is where they always go to after

women's volleyball

In 1895, Volleyball was invented by William G. Morgan. When it was first created, it was called "mintonette." Morgan designed this game to be a mix of basketball, baseball, handball, and tennis. It was not expected that 100 years later, the Alameda High Hornets would be one of the leading high school volleyball teams. With our great Varsity and JV captains leading us to victories, there is no doubt in anyone's mind that we will win the championships this season. Win or lose, our teams are giving their all to have a great season.

Allison Dea, Var `08, dives towards the ground to save the ball and prevent a point against her team. Her whole team is behind her waiting to help her back up. In the game against Encinal, she averaged six kills, four aces, and five digs.

Samantha Alemania, JV '08, is hyped up as she plays at the exciting Encinal game. At the end of the season, she said, "I wish the season was a little longer because it went too fast."

Bump...

As Nichole Lopez, Var '08, plays outside position, she gets the ball and prepares to bump the ball to...

Maggie Ve'e, JV '09, who is playing right-front, receives the bump and attacks it from below it. Then she sets the ball for...

Set...

Spike!

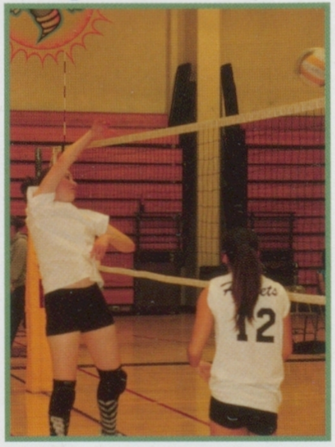
Allison Day, Var '06, who delivers the spike over the net to the opposing team which scores the point.



Andrew Nguyen

Are there any type of special rituals that happen before the game starts ?

"Right before our game, our whole team would get together and we would talk about individual goals and the goals for our team."

-Kelly Reynolds JV '09

"Before our game, we usually do a cheer that we call the 'Gigolo' and we start dancing to get ourselves pumped up for the game."

-Katy Denton, Varsity '07

Christina Clark, JV '08, is doing a warm up to practice her bump before the Richmond game, which she felt she played the best in. In that game, she had four kills and six aces. The Hornets won both games -- in the first game, the score was 25-13 and, in the second game, the score was 25-9.

Lavinia Muti, Var '07, tracks the ball down to the back of the court and saves it just in time. In remembrance of the season, she said that she "enjoyed playing with the seniors. They were great leaders and helped the rest of the team and me to become comfortable playing volleyball."

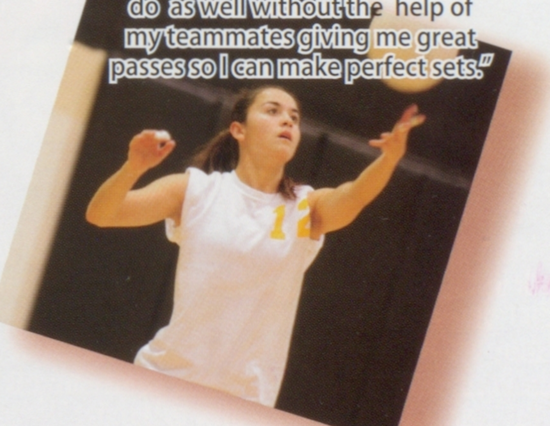
Saleina Pedro, JV '08, takes a break from all the action of the game. She said, "The best game we played was against Berkeley because we played three games instead of two. In that game I had three kills, two blocks, and four serves."

Tiffany Aguon, Var '06, felt ecstatic about playing against Encinal because both teams are from Alameda. She is practicing as hard as she can to perfect for the Encinal game. Even though they lost, she had one encouraging thing to say to all new upcoming players, "Play it!"

The Var team plays together in excellent coordination. It is no coincidence that they have won so many games; they ended the season having won 11 out of 20 games.

Kristyna Smith, JV '09 participates in a team drill before the first game against Berkeley. In that game, she had two kills, one block, and five serves. It seems like all the practice paid off.

Alex Sifert, Var '06, starts her serve, but she prefers to play as a setter and shares, "I couldn't do as well without the help of my teammates giving me great passes so I can make perfect sets."



The JV team comes together and cheers to get ready for the big game. They knew there was no way they would lose against El Cerrito; the final score was two games to one.

women's waterpolo

It may not be hard to believe this violent sport once originated as wrestling in the rivers of mid- 19th century England. Played like an aquatic version of rugby football, early games used an inflated rubber ball imported from India known as a "Pulu." Today, water polo has come quite a long way, becoming the first team sport added to the Olympic program. Alameda's own women's water polo team, led by senior captains Holly Armijo, Hannah Marshall, and Heather Kindrachuk, has had a very successful season this year. Starting out fresh with many new players and a new coach, Bret Garvine, both the Var and JV squads have learned to come together and play as a team. After interviewing many of this year's players, many of them exclaimed with wide smiles, "Watch out for those corvettes!"

Alameda puts their hands in and gives a cheer for one of their four games in the Berkeley tournament. The Hornets placed second overall, losing their last game to Bishop O'Dowd by only one goal. Freshman Natalie Medved concludes, "This one tournament really brought our team together like a family. It was fun spending time with everyone. We'll get 'em next time!"

Senior Holly Armijo scans the pool for an open teammate to pass the ball to. She is heralded as the most inspirational player during this year's season.

Freshman Ashley Bon-Giovanni guards her opponent with much vigor. During her first game, she recalls thinking, "Wow! This is so much fun!"

During the Sierra Shootout, the Var team stops for dinner at a pizza parlor called Mountain Mike's. Freshman Christie Hamilton remembers, "We ordered so many pizzas that we took leftovers back to the hotel and ate cold pizza for breakfast!"

Nicole Greenspan

Left: Katrina Darracq, Junior, concentrates on making a goal during the Berkeley game. As one of the starters during many matches, Katrina is a valuable player to the varsity team.

Left: Junior Reagan Jones, varsity player, attempts to lob the ball during the game at St. Patricks. She is best remembered by her teammates for screaming along to songs during long car rides home.

Senior Hannah Marshall, aggressively aims for the goal. Her hard work during the season finally paid off when she was selected to be part of ACCAL's first team.

INTENSITY

Right: Senior Heather Kindrachuk demonstrates the effect of hard practice and experience as she prevents yet another goal from going in. This four year player confesses that every shot taken against her was a personal battle between herself and the ball. "It was exhilarating, but every shot that went in was like the end of my world," she adds.

Left: During one of the season's late night games, Sophomore Jessica Pan skillfully resists her opponent's attempt to steal the ball away from her. As a starter in all of the Var games, Jessica contributed a significant amount of goals and steals for the team. Her most memorable moment during this year's season was scoring from half-court during the game at Foothill.

As hole-set for the varsity team, Sophomore Francesca Santos says, "To prepare for a big game, I listen to music and just try to visualize the plays beforehand." Francesca was one of the few sophomores to recieve a Honorable Mention during League.

What are different ways that the team gets to know each other and bond together?

"Before games, the team screams and sings along to Kelly Clarkson's "Since U Been Gone." It gets us excited to play and puts everyone in a positive mood."
-Senior captains Hannah Marshall, Holly Armijo, and Heather Kindrachuk

"At the tournaments, all of us get together in one room and stay up really late just talking with each other. This way, we get to learn a lot about each member of the team."
- Sophomore Katrina Turman and Juniors Maureen Mitchell and Tanya Ochoa

After their final League game, the team huddles together to reflect upon their year. Words of praise and congratulations were expressed by both the teammates and coach. Although there were feelings of sadness about the season coming to an end, many were grateful for the friends and close bonds that were established during the time spent together.

men's waterpolo

The team prepares for their intimidating pre-game chant:

"Alameda win on three! One-Two-Three, Alameda win!"

The ball whizzing past the players' heads, the crash of the ball slamming into the net, and the extreme competition can only begin to allow one to understand the intensity of this game. Everyone on the team, especially this year's Varsity Senior captains, Kevin Lai, Joey Ogden, and Brandon Tom are familiar with this. This game, which started out as an AHS club in the 1960s, quickly became popular and grew into a letter man sport in the 1970s. Little did they know that over a decade later, the AHS Var team would place second at ACCAL! The team has come a long way over all these years.

Var Senior Brandon Tom swiftly swims down to the left wing and prevents the ball from going any further past the AHS defense. His steal helped to win 18-3 against Encinal High.

JV Sophomore Cole Bryant begins The Cross, a play that they had previously practiced, by crossing the pool, retrieving the ball and then passing the ball to JV Junior Nils Axelson who got into place once he realized Cole's strategy.

Jack Cheung

What keeps you motivated for this sport ?

JV Freshman Bobby Chang aggressively fights against the Hercules Titans, which then encourages the rest of the team to demolish the game. The mere three points the Titans managed to score does not compete with the 23 points that AHS won.

"Waterpolo is fun and everyone on the team is really close, which makes all the hard work and morning practices worthwhile."

-Jeff Raimondi, Varsity Senior

"That everyone has a passion for the sport and when one of us is down, we make sure that we bring him right up."

-Francisco Cano, Varsity Sophomore

Var Junior Keith Underwood manages to retrieve the ball and sets up for a four-meter shot. Var Senior Kevin Lai's favorite part of the game is that "Everyone contributes and has a lot of fun together."

1) JV Sophomores Shaun Fellows and Jose Patino, and Junior Glen Chan intensely watch this close match. As the time comes to an end, the anticipation grows and keeps them on the edge of their seats-every point scored now will determine the outcome.

2) Vigorously making his way through the water, Junior Var Ryan Dong proves to be a good offense player by pummeling his Berkeley opponent.

3) Senior, goalie Joey Ogden, says that he loves the feeling that he has "accomplished something" after blocking another goal. His hard work pays off because he was able to make five saves at the ACCAL play-offs. His swift reflexes and quick-paced movements further the defensive rank, which helps the team win the game.

4) Even as two opposing players try to steal the ball from him, JV Freshman Christian Jardine is able to deal with the pressure and focus on the game while throwing the ball to a passing teammate at the same time.

women's basketball

Dr. James Naismith invented basketball back in 1891 as a men's-only sport. Women's basketball began soon after in 1892. Since then it has grown into one of the world's most popular sports. Basketball involves numerous skills including, but not limited to, dedication, teamwork, trust, hand-eye coordination, balance, endurance, and aggression. The Lady Hornets are doing things differently this year because they are being led by first-time head coach Ahshalic Johnson. Coach Johnson played basketball at the Collegiate level and is coaching from that viewpoint. She gets insight and feedback from the players as they work together to apply skills they learn in basketball to the rest of their lives. Together as a team they strengthen their minds, bodies and souls.

Senior Varsity Janae Miller aggressively lunges for the ball at jump ball as surrounding teammates get ready for her to hit it away from the Washington Fremont Huskies defender.

The Junior Varsity squad scrutinizes its opponents as they stretch and get mentally focused to squash the rivals.

How have the values you learned from playing basketball affected your life?

"Being able to play on a team has given me self confidence and I have learned and developed people skills from meeting the different teams I play against."

- Nergiss Shaghasi, JV '08

"I have learned about time management because everything revolves around practice, homework, and then your social life. I have to fit it all in during the week."

- Farrah Wayne, Var '07

Junior JV, Victoria DeMoulin makes it look second nature as she crosses the defender and takes it in for an easy two points, to add on to the amazing lead.

JV Action: Rebecca Clark '08 prepares for a free throw as her teammate, Frances Ancheta '08, prepares for the next phase.

The Varsity squad huddles around each other right before the game starts. They are preparing for their notorious chant "What time is it? Game Time!"

With great communication skills and timing skills '07 Varsity Keely Wong completes a pass effortlessly to '08 Varsity Kiyanna Grimes.

The Varsity bench watches the endless assault of the mighty Lady Hornet offense as they win 54 to 50.

Sophomore JV, Allison Dea , keeps the opposing player in front of her, not allowing her adversary to make a fast break.

'07 Varsity, Michelle Blaisdell quickly passes the ball to another teammate during the Varsity team's warm ups before a game.

men's basketball

The creator of Basketball, James Naismith, once said, "Basketball is a sport that should not be coached," yet many people in the hall of fame are coaches. They strive for greatness as we Hornets do. They carefully train their players to their maximum potential, not only to gain an ounce of fame, but for the love of the game. With great coaches, Yamasaki, Jones, Ruiz and Locks, the Hornets have no doubt of continuing their success with a group of fifteen carefully selected Varsity players leading the team. Combined with their determination and devotion, they have high hopes for the future.

Senior Jon Holder takes the prestegious position as one of the three captains of the Varsity team. His four years on the team have shaped him to be a great leader and a great team player. His leadership gives the Hornet Varsity team energy and motivation to win!

Taylor Vondrasek, Freshman, carefully hoards the ball, preventing the opposing team from stealing it from him.

Sophomore Will Sheratt, JV, lunges past an El Cerrito defender, looking around for a teammate to pass to.

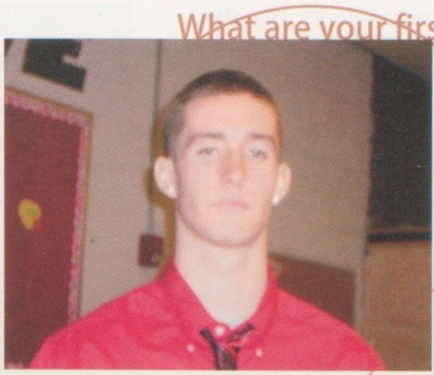
Junior Petie Kortman, Varsity, knows exactly how to guard opponents because of his previous three years on the team. All of his training paid off upon his entrance to the Varsity team.

Junior Chris Caniaveral, JV, drives the ball with fierce intensity, hoping to score a point for his team. He remembers thinking, "The adrenaline keeps my heart pumping!"

Dejuan Hendrix

Jeff Roeder, JV Sophomore, leaps into the air with an opposing El Cerrito Gaucho, wanting to score a basket for his team and furthering their chances of winning. Roeder remarks, "I can't wait until I get to be on the Varsity team. The players are so good this year."

What are your first thoughts when receiving the basketball?



"My first instinct when receiving the ball is either looking for teammates to pass to or scoring a point. It feels great to score on somebody."

-Devin Hobbs, Varsity, 06'

"I get really excited, so sometimes I'll try to score. If I can't then I try to find someone I can pass to. I get scared too because I don't want to make a mistake."

-Calvin Davis, Freshman, 08'

The Freshmen players sit at one of their first basketball games, waiting for their turn to play. They have another three years to go!

The JV team watches their teammates, hoping to have a chance to play, and cheering for those who are on the floor.

Coaches Yamasaki and Ruiz plan out the Varsity team's strategy for the next quarter, hoping to achieve maximum efficiency.

Freshman Erik Wong springs into the air delivering the ball effortlessly into the basket. His basketball career is off to an auspicious beginning, gaining the title of co-captain among his Freshman peers.

Junior Steven Nakada, Varsity, rushes a quick layup into the net. Stephen's expression epitomizes the amount of determination and intensity required in a truly successful basketball player.

... and HE SCORES! Yet another breath-taking win for these amazing Hornets!

Junior Brandon Chang, Varsity, attempts to steal the ball for the Hornets while closely guarding the opponent. He carefully determines his position for peak flexibility and performance.

Junior James Parker, Varsity, is not intimidated by other players. He comments, "I always try my hardest no matter what."

cheerleading

Varsity flyers '08 Rachel Cortes, '08 Jessica Louie, '08 Liana Choi and '08 Amanda Yee are being lifted up in to supers during their half time dance.

This year's Cheerleading team at Alameda High is different compared to the other years at this school. This is because the cheerleaders weren't just practicing for games, but they were practicing to compete in the GSSA NorCal Cheer & Dance Classic. It was the first time in five years of Alameda's history to have the opportunity to compete there. The Varsity squad came in 4th and the Junior Varsity squad came in 2nd. With a lot of hard work and early morning practices, both the Varsity and Junior Varsity squads have grown, not just physically, but also mentally. They have learned to work as one and not thirty-four girls who do their own thing whenever they want to. This year was also different because of a new coach: Shari Nichols. She has given a lot of time and effort to the team; this was also her first time coaching high school cheerleading. Although some cheerleaders may say she is a tough coach, she is none the less fantastic and a great role model for the girls.

Below: The JV squad cheers at their last '05-'06 prep rally, they pump up the basketball players spirits before the Encinal game.

men's soccer

Senior, Nissa Hatifie, Varsity, plays his last game as it is his last year here at Alameda High. Because of this, Nissa is able to play his hardest and put tremendous effort into his game.

Did you know that soccer was originally played as a war game? In medieval times, it was played between opposing towns and villages. Kicking, punching, biting and gouging were encouraged. Since then, the game has evolved into a popular worldwide sport. Even though violence is no longer allowed in today's soccer games, there is still some animosity. This intense game requires the heart and devotion that our Alameda High athletes have. Go Hornets!

The Titans and Hornets hadn't seen each other since mid-December 2005, which made the game even more exciting. Sophomore Kyle Valenzuela, Varsity, slides under the Hercules athlete and passes the ball to another player.

Junior Demitrius Omphroy, Varsity, comes up from behind the Hercules player and steals the ball. Demitrius is one of the most important and valued players on the team which is shown by the way he demolishes the game 2-1.

While one of the Encinal athletes runs with the ball towards the goal, Freshman Andrew Yount, JV, sneaks up from behind the Encinal Jet and takes the ball to the other side of the field.

Stacey Hooker

What motivates you to play soccer?

"Just thinking about winning motivates me to play my hardest, and thinking about the NCS helps me put more effort into the game."

-Senior, Jonathan Romo, Varsity

What exhilarates you before each game?

"The idea of being able to knock down the other team and the excitement before each game."

-Sophomore, Randy Perkins, Varsity

While the other players watch the last few seconds of the game in suspense, Sophomore Kevin Ng, Varsity, heads the ball to score the goal that ends the season.

1. Sophomore Anthony Alvarez, Varsity, plays as the goalie for our team. With the support of his teammates, he continues to play the game he loves.

2. Freshman Alex Jiu, Varsity, follows in his brother's footsteps as an Alameda High School soccer player. Even though he plays on the Varsity team as a Freshman, his obvious talent is shone through the way he intensely plays his games.

1. Freshman Dylan Flores and Sophomore Jake Reimer work together so that fellow Sophomore, JV, teammate, David Garcia is able to play the best game of the 2006 season. The Hornets won their most dominating game 6-0 against the Guachos from El Cerrito.

2. Sophomore Brenden Jiu, Varsity, kicks the ball with a powerful strike before anyone else can get a hold of it. Brenden says, "Soccer is one of my favorite sports because whenever I play, I put my all into it and try my hardest to win."

Even under the intense pressure, Sophomore Jason Hong, JV, kicks the ball over to another Alameda High School athlete so that the Encinal players won't be able to obtain the ball.

Junior Martin Castaneda, Varsity, is able to quickly steal the ball and score one of the two goals that won the game against the Titans.

women's soccer

Hornet soccer player Emily Beylerian, Sophomore Varsity, is determined to have a great season in her second year at AHS. She is a great asset to the team.

It is impossible to say exactly where and when soccer began. It's been played throughout the planet for over 3,000 years. However, the organized sport is now known all over the world today. Soccer is not just a ball and a goal; it's about teamwork, desire, and passion for the sport. A real team needs the bond that can only be developed through experience together. The passion involved in the players is inexplicable. Soccer is one of this nation's most played sports, and it looks as if it will stay that way.

The team gets together for a few sprints after an excruciating practice. They ended their season with nine wins, one tie, and four hard fought loses.

Ashley Assayag '09

1)The visual art that comes from watching soccer is a treat for the viewer, even simple moves such as the step over, or just putting it through your own legs entrances the eyes.

2) Amy Beylerian, '06 Varsity, controls the ball with supreme preciseness. This is her last year playing for Alameda High. During her last game, she received a warm reception with the rest of the Senior players from the coach, fans, and teammates.

Sophomore, Efe Ogbeide is this year's Varsity striker and is doing a great job with fourteen wins and four ties this season.

What motivates you before an important soccer game?

"My team comes together and we motivate each other by planning the certain plays we will perform during the game. These bonds build relationships that last."
- Var '06 Taylor Holstlaw

"When we all warm up as a team, it puts us in the soccer playing mood. I continue playing soccer because it keeps me in shape and I get to meet new people."

- JV '09 Yen-Chi Ha

1) Taylor Croxton, Freshman, JV, receives a flying ball, in pursuit of a goal at the home field, Thompson Field.

2) Jana Rodden, Varsity, '07, attempts to "juke" an opposing player using a move she worked on in practice. To juke is when a player uses a move to get past the opposing player in a boasting fasion. She will be returning for her final year next year.

3) Danielle Green, Varsity, '07, agressively heads the ball to a teammate as they make a run down the line.

For Varsity Senior, Kayla Mogg, this is in her final year helping the women's soccer team here at good old Alameda High. Aiding their fourteenth victory this year, Kayla is always on the ball, literally.

Senior Varsity Morgan Gehrett is one of the strongest mid field players on the team this year.

Freshman JV Jessica Leong is positioned as a mid fielder. She has helped bring in the eight wins this season.

Krystina Smith, Varsity, tries her hardest to keep the ball in bounds. She is a Freshman, new to Varsity and is doing a good job defending her goal.

Freshman JV, Vannessa Watrous, takes the ball toward the goal attempting to score helping JV obtain ten wins this season.

badminton

Junior, Oka Enkhbayar agressively gets ready to hit the birdie right back to the opposite side of the net.

The modern sport of badminton originated in India with a game known as "Poona." It was the Duke of Beaufort who officially introduced the game to England. In 1873, the Duke invited guests to play Poona on his country estate. The game was a hit and soon became popular among the British elite. People began calling the new party sport "the badminton game." The game of badminton is similar to tennis; badminton is a racket sport for two or four players. Two people play a singles set while four players take to the court in teams of two for doubles play. The Hornet badminton team is very passionate about the sport and works incredibly hard to triumph. This year, badminton has become very popular with many students.

Junior Calvin Huang strides for the birdie as it comes right in front of him.

Senior Danny Tran shows his intensity as he reaches with his racket to hit the birdie.

Junior Steven Bao strikes a powerful hit at the birdie.

To play the game of badminton, you need team work. During one of the practices, the badminton team defensively works together to hit the birdie to the other side.

Sophomore Nomun Gansukh looks cheerful as she works on swinging the racket.

During practice, Junior Remi Wong warms up with the rest of the badminton team to strengthen up for her and the team's upcoming games.

Freshman, Tony Wan jumps up in the air to skillfully hit the birdie

What are the rewards of playing Badminton?

"The reward of high-school badminton in its entirety extends beyond just school spirit. It's a way to meet new people and make new friends."
- Senior, Jason Koo

"I get to meet all of the upper classmen and I get into shape. I also learned that badminton is a rather intense sport. I really enjoy it."

"Suicide," "stolen base," "home run," these are some of the plays that make baseball exciting. Most people do not realize that baseball is a game of strategy, and understanding of your opponent through extensive studying. Knowing your opponents strengths and weaknesses can greatly help decide the outcome of a tight game. The Alameda Hornets realize this knowledge and use it to their advantage, to practice what they will execute when it comes to crunch time. Strategy and execution are the key elements that make the Alameda High School team so successful.

Varsity Brandon Busick takes a hard swing and watches the ball fly across the course.

Golf as we know it today was first played in the eastern coast of Scotland in the Kingdom of Fife during the 15th century B.C. Players would hit a pebble around with a stick on a course of sand dunes. People believe that Kolven from Holland and Chole from Belgium influenced the game to what it has become today. Golf is a sport that is getting more and more popular as time grows. The Sport has fasctinated many young and old people all around the nation. At Alameda High, golf, though a small sport, is a very important part of our school and community.

softball

Softball originated in Chicago on Thansgiving Day in 1887. George Hancock invented Softball by tying up a boxing glove to resemble a ball, breaking off a broom handle to serve as a bat, and chalking out his own diamond on a gym floor. What proceeded was a smaller version of baseball, and 119 years later, softball has evolved into a popular worldwide sport.

Alameda High School adopted softball as a varsity sport for students in the 70's. Given opportunity, the Hornet athletes have proved their talent and skill by having had many consecutive wins in the championships. Senior Laurel Pipkin, one of our Hornet athletes says, "It's exciting to go to these championships because we know that to have come this far, we accomplished so much."

Senior Laurel Pipkin, Varsity, has been playing Softball for since freshman year. Her teammates recognize her dedication and look up to her as a role model.

Sophomore Vicky Trujillo, JV, prepares to hit the incoming ball and is able to hit an RBI. Vicky says that she started playing softball because of her love for it.

Sophomore Jill Yastishak, Varsity, served as the winning pitcher during our home game against Campolindo. The Hornets started off without any results but, ended with a win of 2-0.

The Varsity division decides to hudde up during the game against San Lorenzo so that they can discuss their next game plan. Working together proved to be the right move, seeing as they demolished San Lorenzo 10-0.

The JV team come together and congratulate each other on their winning streak. Their successful start of the season shows that the team is more aggressive and competitive this year.

Freshman Danielle Carmon, JV, swiftly runs towards home base so she can score the winning run. Danielle says that her favorite part of playing softball is the fact that you can learn a lot of new things that you haven't learned before.

Sophomore Lacey Parodi, Varsity, uses her quick reflexes which allow her to catch the ball and strike out the San Lorenzo player which was the winning play in a 10-0 strikeout.

Freshman Stephanie Sorenson, Varsity, quickly catches the ball so that she can throw it to first base and strike out the opponent. Stephanie is currently the only freshman on the Varsity team and she feels that its a privilege to be a part of the Varsity division.

What motivated you to start playing softball?

"My brother always used to play baseball, and watching my brother and father play together inspired me to start playing softball."

-Varsity, Julie Lawson, Sophomore

"As a kid, I played T-ball with the boys and ever since then, I've always had a love for softball."

-Varsity, Hannah Greenburg, Junior

Freshman Lauren Cabrales, JV, stands alert as she gets ready to steal the third base. Lauren says that while she's playing the game she is constantly thinking about what she should be doing at the moment, where she should pass the ball, and what position she should be in.

Natalie Wilkins(10) slices through the water, braves the elements themselves and swims onward, despite wind and rain. This is only one aspect of the dedication required in order to be a swimmer.

Alameda High School's swim team has quite a reputation around the Bay Area. Coach Leslie Cortez has often boasted: "We've got the numbers. I get around 70 girls joining the team each year, and I don't cut any one of them. But the thing that makes us so special is that I can take my JV swimmers, put them in Varsity events, and we'll still whoop on the other team." It's very true - she has done it time and time again. Could it be the secret to success? Perhaps. But this is combined with the 5:00 am morning practices in the rain, among other things. Time and time again, the women swimmers have proven themselves worthy of being ACCAL League Champions.

men's swimming & diving

The Alameda High swim team is becoming more popular each year. In order to take part in this sport, students have to go through morning practices, vigorous afternoon trainings, and even swim during harsh weather. Swimmers can expect to swim everyday, unless death is at risk - thunder or severe illness. The Hornet's ability to endure and master these skills galvanizes them so they can crush opposing schools. The dedication that they have towards swimming is shown through their effort and commitment for the sport.

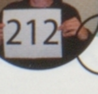
Senior Joey Ogden, Varsity, and Sophomore Francisco Cano, team manager, cheer on their teammates throughout the meet. Their presence creates a drive for the swimmers, knowing that their team is counting on them to try their hardest to win.

Junior Charlie Arnold takes a second to breathe during his 500 freestyle event. His time, which is faster than 6 minutes, enables him for a spot during league.

Senior Brandon Tom swims his breaststroke with great precision and skill. He is one of the most dedicated swimmers on the swim team. As a captain, he encourages swimmers to never give up, and puts 110% into every practice and meet. He is truly an inspiration to everyone on the swim team.

Senior Jeff Ramondi is training for NCS this year with his fastest 100 freestyle time of 48.8 seconds. Four years of high school swimming has taught him to be a great leader. As one of the captains, he demonstrates great leadership and support, always trying to help.

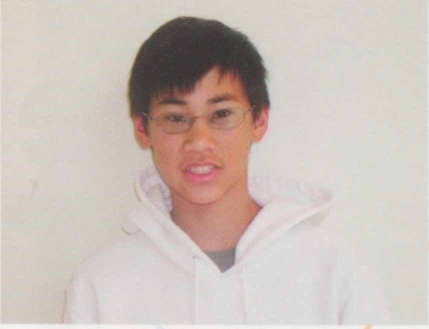
Senior Kevin Lai, Varsity, has the fastest time for breaststroke on the entire team, going 64 seconds for the 100 breaststroke. Being one of the three captains, he is a role model for the whole swim team and motivates them with his charismatic nature.



The Varsity and JV swimmers take a break from their meet to encourage the swimmers who are on deck for the next event. Junior Ryan Dong, Varsity, watches his teammates, hoping that they will achieve the times they aspire for.

Freshmen Michael Chen and Wayne Chen, JV, watch the meet eagerly after their warm-up, anticipating their own events with hopes of swimming their best times.

Is there anyone you look up to on the team?



"I mostly look up to the Seniors because they've been doing swimming for a long time and they still continue to dedicate themselves to swimming."

-Freshman Andre Tom, JV

"I look up to the captains because they're good role models, dedicated, manage their time well, and they try to help us improve."

-Junior Derrick Tao, Varsity

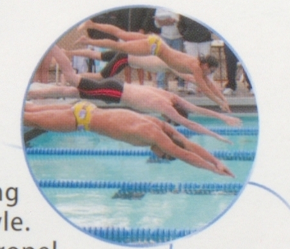
Senior Alex Richardson, Varsity, competes in the 50 freestyle event during the home meet against Albany and is able to pull it off with a time of 24.4 seconds.



The swimmers get into a ready diving position for the 100 yard freestyle. Their dives are flawless as they propel their bodies into the air and downwards into the water in a fluid motion.

In ancient times, tennis was played with a wooden racket surrounded by a graphite frame. Nowadays, tennis is one of the fastest sports in the world, with ball speeds exceeding 100 mph. At Alameda High, tennis is one of our most prestigious sports, as we have made NorCals consistently over the past five years. The team's success has a lot to do with bonding. The team has its own pre-game rituals such as listening to music, which has promoted bonding through out the team. The team is led by Senior Joe Tran, and Sophmore Thai Tu. Thai's brother, Tommy, was one of the top three singles players in all of Northern California. # track and field

Sophomore Irina Bobarnac starts off the race with both of her feet off the ground using most of her momentum.

Track and field originated in 776 B.C. For the first thirteen years of the Olympic festivals, track was the only athletic event to compete in. That has drastically changed since then, but to this day it remains one of the most popular events in school across the nation. Alameda High has an outstanding team with over 100 students participating. Track and Field does not only consist of running, there is also the high jump, pole vaulting, shot put, discus and many other events. Track and field takes a tremendous amount of training and endurance. It allows the students to make friends, meet new people and play a sport they enjoy all at the same time.

Senior Johnny Young darts pass the audience like a lightning bolt.

Junior Sadie Zapata runs the lane with an opponent right on her tail. She concentrates on the road ahead looking for the next person to pass the baton to. Castro Valley won't stand a chance against this determined runner.

Sophomore Garrett Jay puts on a serious face while keeping his eye on the prize instead of the competition trailing behind him. This is his second year participating in track at Alameda High, maybe he can teach incoming Freshmen a thing or two.

What keeps you motivated to run?

"Track is a difficult sport to do, but there are so many other things that motivate us to keep running such as the coaches, a wonderful team, and the rewards of being able to overcome obstacles in life and pain."
-Freshmen 09' Jessica Hong and Junior 07' Katie Linstead

men's volleyball

Varsity Senior Tony Beitia's level of play is extraordinary as he bursts above the net to spike the ball down, bringing the Hornets one step closer to a victory against the Hornet's long rivals, the De Anza Dons.

William G. Morgan, an instructor at YMCA, developed the sport of volleyball in 1895. This unique sport is blended with elements from basketball, baseball, tennis, and handball. It was created so that it would demand less physical contact with other players than basketball. In the beginning it was called mintonette, but soon after it was called volleyball because people referred to the ball as being volleyed back and forth. This volleyball season was in jeopardy because of the previous coach, Mr. Hardin, had to step down for personal reasons, but luckily Coach Burnett stepped up as he saw that it was unfair for the students if they shut down the volleyball program and he did not want to see that happen.

Fructuoso Menchavez, Varsity '09, uses his fast reflexes to extend his whole body in order to save the ball and prevent a De Anza point.

Concentrating on the game, Freshman John Woodliff, JV, calmly bumps the ball allowing his teammates to react to this play in order to score.

Sophomores Kevin Ngyuen and Ibrahim Mohammed-Zakir, JV, prevent a point from being scored against them with a bump.

Coach B's Varsity volleyball team huddles together during the game to discuss their strategy in order to come away with a win.

Sophomore Steven Stone, JV, instinctively reacts to a spiked ball, saving it from touching the ground, allowing his teammates to return the favor.

Freshman Chris Bongon, Varsity, makes an incredible jump to spike the ball over the net to the opponents side of the court and scores a point.

What got you to start your volleyball career?

"Coach Burnett told me to come out for volleyball and put my athleticism to something else other than basketball. I was skeptical at first, but once I got into the sport, I started to enjoy it."

-Junior Petey Kortmann, Varsity

"I started playing volleyball because most of my friends started to play volleyball at my old school and they got me into it."

-Sophomore Ibrahim Mohammed-Zakir, JV

The JV team restlessly waits for the Varsity team to serve the ball. Not being frightened or intimidated by the more skilled and experienced Varsity players, Junior Ballal Naderi, JV, exclaims "Hit the ball to me if you dare!"

Sophomore Eddie Lee, Varsity, demonstrates how to serve the ball. First, he visualizes where he is going to hit the ball. Second, he throws it into the air, while keeping his eyes on when it falls to the same height as the net. Finally, he bends his knees and strikes the ball, remembering to follow through so that the ball can fly at its highest velocity.

Sophomore Jerame Wood, Varsity, displays how to perfectly set a ball in order to complete one of the phases in volleyball. First off, he bends his knee and elbows and keeps his eyes on the ball. Then, he gets contact with the ball using the tips of his fingers. Lastly, he extends his arm in order for the ball to soar straight up into the air.

capture_cultural items

Some cultures have special items that they use in their performance arts. For Saudi Arabian belly dancers, these hip belts help create the sensation of movement at the hip line and are a vital part of the belly dancer's costume.

clubs

capture_elegance

In belly dancing, every part of the body must flow and work together. This graceful hand is a metaphor of how AHS club participants all cooperate, making student life a dynamic organism.

KELSEY,

WE THANK YOU FOR THE PRIVILEGE OF SURROUNDING AND SUPPORTING YOU FROM THE TIME YOU WERE IN A CRADLE UNTIL NOW AS YOU ARE READY TO STEP OFF INTO THE ADULT WORLD.

AND WHILE THERE IS SADNESS TO SEE THESE DAYS COME TO AN END, WE KNOW YOU HAVE ACQUIRED ALL THAT WE AND THE WORLD HAVE TO OFFER IN YOUR PREPARATION FOR THE JOURNEY AHEAD.

WE ARE PLEASED TO PRESENT YOU TO THE WORLD AS A MOST BEAUTIFUL, TALENTED AND CONFIDENT YOUNG WOMAN.

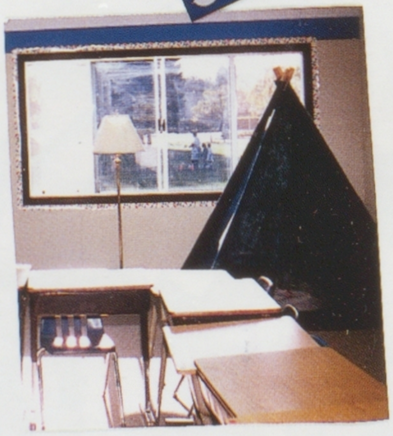
Student of the Week



Mrs. Bunger's Water bottle

A very special tribute to a small portion of the Class of 2006...it all started 9 years ago! THANKS FOR MEMORIES!

FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL: Welcome Bag of Treats and Making Leaves for our tree!

FAVORITE VISITOR: Pax

SCARIEST MEMORY FOR MRS. B: Playing "Red Rover, Red Rover" (What was I thinking???!)

LOCATION OF ROOM 44'S OCCUPANTS ON FRIDAY AFTERNOONS: Playing Dodge Ball of course!

FUNNIEST CLASSROOM INCIDENT: Jonny on the desk with his "drawers" showing. (Just what was the "real" story?!)

BEST FIELD TRIP: Going to the Steinhart Aquarium in S.F. to play with the sea creatures (eww, they're so squishy!)

BIGGEST HAIR: Ms. Forbes

FAVORITE CLASSROOM JOB: Filling Mrs. Bunger's Water Bottle (which really meant cruisin' school)

UNIQUE LESSONS (Mrs. B thought so!): Island of the Blue Dolphins (when will it ever end!), Point of View ( a spot in the room through a paper towel roll), Guess My Secret Snack, Bear Skins (more like paper bag skins), Memory Bank of Math Facts (ugh! - do we have to?!), Halloween Masks, Raisins Everywhere, & Guess Who's Coming to Dinner

LONGEST DAY: The trip to San Juan Bautista ("are we ever gonna get home?!!!")

MOST TORTURED STUDENT by "MOM": Laurel Pipkin (4 years!)

SPECIAL THANKS: TO CARRIE OSBORN FOR CONTRIBUTING THE STUDENT PICTURES(from yearbook)!

Tharon Bunger

Oakland Ice Center

Opened in 1995 the Oakland Ice Center is a year-round ice recreational facility offering public skating sessions seven days a week, plus a variety of affordable learn to skate classes for skaters of all ages and abilities.

Professional figure skating instruction is offered under the direction of well-known World and Olympic coach Christy Ness, coach of the 1992 World and Olympic Champion.

The OIC hockey program, run by former professional hockey player Emery Lykins, offers opportunities for players of all ages. Our program includes learn to play classes, an In-House league, a travel program for kids aged 5-18, a very popular Adult Hockey League and Over 40 League. The OIC is also home to the nationally ranked Oakland Seals Women's team. Please come out and enjoy the action!

As your family fun destination, the OIC offers birthday packages, and affordable rates for groups of 15 or more.

Give us a call for more information @ (510) 268-9000 or visit us online @ www.oaklandice.com

Year In Review

Last year, Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston were the "All American" dream couple. After a year of marriage, the couple called it quits. This year, it is Brad and Angelina Jolie. At the premiere of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the public became aware of the pair's status as a couple. Angelina is now pregnant and Brad has become the stepfather to her two adopted children.

LONGFELLOW SCHOOL
Longfellow

A decision was reached by the Alameda School Board to close three West End Alameda elementary schools: Longfellow (right), Miller, and Woodstock because of the AUSD budget deficit. There is a new 600-student school being built in the new development, Bayport, to accommodate the displaced students from the three schools as well as the new Bayport residents.

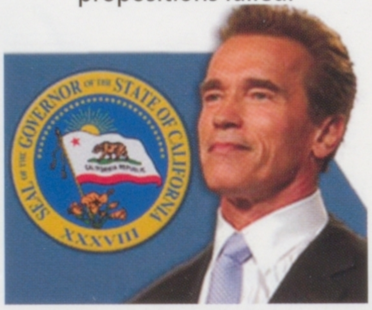
In local news, members of Your Black Muslim Bakery allegedly smashed up liquor cases in Muslim-owned liquor stores in Oakland to make the point that Muslims should not be selling liquor in poorer communities. The cases were pending at the time of publication.

On February 12, 2006, Vice President Dick Cheney accidentally shot his friend Harry Whittington on a quail hunting trip. Whittington was taken to a Corpus Christi hospital after Cheney shot him with a 28-gauge shotgun 30 yards away in the cheek, neck, and chest. Whittington simply stated after being released from the hospital, "Accidents...happen." He then had a minor heart attack when birdshot went to his heart. He died soon after at the age of 78.

Governor Schwarzenegger held a special election this year on Propositions 73-80. Some of the propositions included parental consent for abortions for minors, redistricting, discounts on prescription medicine, and prohibiting the use of union dues for political purposes without the consent of the individual employees. The election was held on November 8, 2005 and all of the propositions failed.



SEAL OF THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

KEEP ABORTION LEGAL FOR CHOICE!
IT'S YOUR CHOICE
WHO DECIDES?
CHOICE • JUSTICE
ACCESS • HEALTH
ABORTION • GLOBAL

Pro-choice supporters, like those pictured above, have little hope for the future of abortions in South Dakota. The state passed a law making it illegal to have or perform an abortion, unless there are special circumstances. As of publication, the case challenging the law was pending to be heard before the Supreme Court

Meant for the English classes downstairs in the main building, these portables cost $567 per month to keep at the school. The English classes never moved in, so the rooms have become lunch spots for students to sit at. They are ugly and have totally covered up what used to be basketball courts. The area used to be open and pretty, but it is now dark and gloomy.

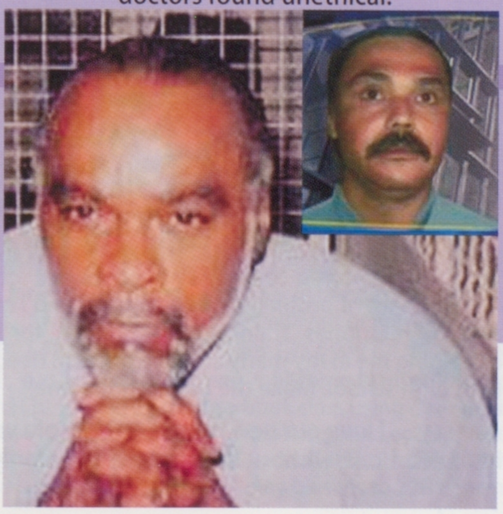
During hurricane season, the U.S. experienced two Category 5 hurricanes: Katrina (far left) and Rita (left). Katrina hit the Gulf Coast while Rita hit Florida, leaving over 3.4 million people without homes. These natural disasters brought Americans together nationwide in relief efforts to collect money, clothes, and volunteers. Alameda High students and families also contributed in the relief efforts by collecting money for the Red Cross and UNICEF. Even months after the hurricanes, there are still many reminders of what happened and the devastation that it caused.

This year was a year of setbacks for the Supreme Court. The retirement of swing voter Justice Sandra Day O'Connor (top left) sent the President on a quest to find America's next Supreme Court Justice. The President found Republican John Roberts (top right) to replace O'Connor. A sudden passing of Chief Justice William Rehnquist (bottom left), who had served on the Court for almost 19 years, left the seat open for Roberts, who was confirmed on September 29. O'Connor decided not to retire until a replacement was found. The President's first choice was Harriet Meyers, who later withdrew before the Senate hearings. Samuel Alito Jr. (bottom right) was next on the President's list and was confirmed as a Supreme Court Justice on January 31. This shift in Justices left supporters of the abortion case Roe v. Wade skeptical of how the new Justices would tip the scales.

December 13, 2005 marks the execution of Stanley "Tookie" Williams (below), the co-founder of the Crips. Controversy surrounded his execution as some argued that he had completely rehabilitated himself. They believed that the nation would benefit from him staying alive and speaking against gangs. Others believed that his crimes were too heinous and only the death penalty would serve justice. He was executed by lethal injection.

In a related case, Michael Morales (inset) was scheduled to be executed February 21, 2006. Medical professionals, however, refused to participate after a court order changed the lethal injection procedure to a way that the doctors found unethical.



On October 8, 2005, an earthquake measuring 7.6 on the Richter scale hit Pakistan, northern India, and Afghanistan. The earthquake was responsible for as many as 30,000 deaths and at least 40,000 injuries. Some four million people were left without shelter. Many feared that the cold, harsh winter would kill many of the homeless. Compassionate people around the world helped collect clothing and raise funds to help those in need. Senior Gabi Centurion took action by raising over $1000 for the cause with a fundraising show.

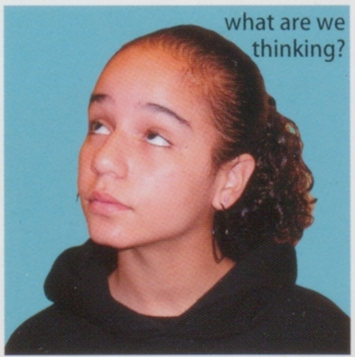
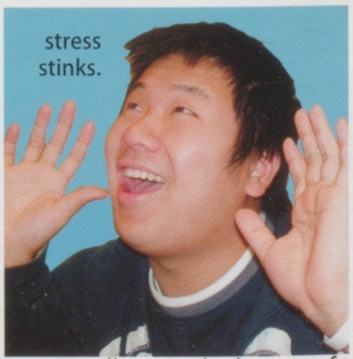
aw, I love you guys!

that's me, next year!



what are we thinking?



stress stinks.

"I can't believe that my four years in yearbook are over. I have endured countless hours of work after class that, hopefully, everyone will see in the beauty of this and last year's book. To the staff: we definitely had our share of problems this year (ads) and I am extremely grateful to all of you for sticking through this year with me to make the book beautiful and the year full of memories. Thank you, Ms. Klinger, for supporting and helping me in my moments of despair and frustration. Thank you so much to Sarah and Marisa for helping me in my many creative times in need. Good luck, Marisa, in your first year as editor-in-chief and last year of high school. Make the book a good one!" --Jessica Woo

"I love this year's staff more than I can say. . . I love our new room and the sofa you all poached off a sidewalk. Woodles, I love you with all my heart, can't stand the thought of yearbook without you and wish you only the best of things in all that is to come. -- Ms. Klinger

Right: Jason Woo was Yearbook's honorary MonkeyBoy! He climbed cabinets and jumped from desks for our new archive.

Far Right: We always start out the year with a bunch of icebreakers. One of this year's: The Human Knot!

Left: Our Yearbook Advisor Ms. Klinger! She has been doing Yearbook for 8 years now, and still loves it.

Right: After our annual Yearbook frosting fight, Yearbook girls crowd into the bathroom to clean the sticky messes off of their faces and out of their hair.

Far Right: Will Matteucci wishes he could be a unicorn... but somehow, he just can't get it right.

candid yearbook! (described in clockwise order)

1) Jessica Woo, Sarah Yuen, & Marisa Sum are the veterans of Yearbook, and after all these years we still love to bring our Tupperware and eat lunch in class!
2) Jessica Prins? No, it's Jesse Prins, looking fabulous in a fluffy white thingy that no one knows what to do with. So is cross dressing what really goes on in Yearbook?!?!
3) Ms. Klinger's dog Auggie visits us sometimes, during long deadline days, and he loves to be played with. He made a special friend this time in Kitty Wen.
4) Beth Matteucci & Rebecca Evans do Yearbook matrix style.
5) John Lee was feeling particularly fiesty during Halloween, and the new color of his lips is the stylish result. Note Ms. Klinger's puzzled expression as she steals a glance at him.
